NEW YORK, April 19.—Nearly five thousand dollars of the Lindbergh ransom money has been recovered by police and federal authorities, it was revealed here today.

While police were checking the latest suspect in the famous kidnapping and murder case, who was charged by U. S. Marshal John J. Murphy of Boston with a resemblance to the Scandinavian "John" who collected the $50,000 ransom from Dr. John F. (Jafsic) Condon, it was alleged that he had purchased a Swedish trinket with part of the ransom money.

The ransom delivered by Dr. Condon on the night of April 2, 1932 in St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx was made up of five, ten and twenty dollar bills.

Upon the advice of Frank Wilson, agent of the U. S. internal revenue service, the serial numbers of the bills were noted in order that they might be identified later.

Twenty nine hundred and twenty dollars of this ransom money was recovered by police at one time according to the information revealed today.

On May 1, 1933, when the presidential gold boarding order required all gold and gold certificates to be turned in to the federal reserve bank, 91 bills of the Lindbergh ransom money were turned in at one time at the federal reserve bank.

There were 290 ten dollar gold (Continued On Page Two)

U. S. Administration Puzzled Over Japan's New Chinese Policy

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Administration officials are puzzled and not a little irritated over Japan's newly announced policy of assuming a virtual protectorate over China.

They are puzzled over just how far Japan intends to go in carrying out her self-appointed role of "peacekeeping" in the Orient. And irritated over the manner of its pronouncement. Thus far, no Japanese diplomat has acquainted the American government officially with the new policy, and no note has been received. It is rather a new wrinkle in international diplomacy for any government to announce such a far-reaching policy casually to the press.

Violation Of Treaty. If Japan literally carries out her announced intention of establishing hegemony over China, officials here consider such action as a direct violation of the nine-power treaty signed in Washington in 1922. This treaty pledged the nine powers having interests in the Far East to protect Chinese sovereignty, and pledged them as well to protect the principle of the open door in China.

Of course, the nine-power treaty was pretty well muzzled up by Japan's war on Shanghai several years ago, and her subsequent invasion and conquering of Manchuria. Still, the skeleton of the treaty remained, and it has been the hope of Washington that Japanese ambitions had been satisfied by the establishment of the puppet state of Manchukuo.

Apparently this hope is not to be fulfilled. Tokio dispatches, notwithstanding from official sources, report that the new Japanese policy is aimed to prevent the sale of foreign airplanes to the Chinese Nationalist government, and to prevent "politic-economic" loans.

(International News Service)
TOKYO, April 19.—The nine-power treaty, by whom Japan and the principal western nations guaranteed the "open door" in China, has become "null and void," according to a Japanese war office spokesman as quoted in the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi today.

The war office was quoted as thoroughly endorsing the foreign office announcement Tuesday that Japan would oppose foreign military and "political" economic relief being given China.

The war office spokesman was quoted as saying, in part: "Japan rejected the Lytton (League of Nations) report on Manchuria because it was found on the principle of international control of China, and for this reason Japan withdrew from the League of Nations."

He had placed a door in front of himself as a screen. His wife entered the garage several times while searching for him, but did not discover the body for a time because of the screen.

He had been in ill health, members of the family stated, but had not been dependent over his condition. He had been employed at the brick plant in Bessemer for the past 20 years, but was not working at the time.

In the past sixty days New Castle and Lawrence County have been flooded with slot machines. Following the raids in Pittsburgh the slot machine owners sent their machines out to outlying cities and New Castle and Lawrence County got many machines.

President Hopes To Establish Permanent System Of Arbitration

WASHINGTON, Apr. 19.—President Roosevelt today attempted the building of a permanent system of arbitration of labor disputes.

He called Senator Wagner (D) of New York, and other administrative aides to the White House for a conference on the general legislative program.

Hopes For Plan

Out of the conference Mr. Roosevelt hopes will come a final plan for legislation designed to effect the desired results.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, and other aides, were to attend in addition to Wagner, who heads the present national labor board.

Mr. Roosevelt expects to retain in the final legislative proposals the principles embodied in the Wagner measures, but believes there must be modifications. He has indicated that at least two requirements must be met. The legislation must prevent company domination of all employees' unions, and must provide for a specific labor board of mediation before which labor disputes can be brought.

With regard to unemployment insurance, Mr. Roosevelt approves the principle of the pending legislation, but believes the proposed five percent payroll tax too heavy a burden for industry to carry. He favors a tax of something like two or two and a half percent, and the legislation as finally approved by him will probably carry such a tax.

Wants Speedy Action

The president wants speedy action on the labor legislation once it is drafted. He declared in his semi-weekly press conference that he wanted the present session of Congress to pass it.

Betty Boop And Helen Kane Have Battle In Court

Court Sees Pictures In $250,000 Suit Brought By Actress

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 19.—Helen Kane and Betty Boop fought it out on the screen in an anteroom of the court where her $250,000 suit against Paramount Public corporation was resumed today.

It was the first command performance of its kind in American legal history. Justice Edward J. McGoldrick concluded that seeing was the only way of deciding whether the little animated cartoon figure (but with figure) was a "sten" on Helen Kane's amplitudinous one.

The show was a flop as Justice McGoldrick decided to see the films without sound effects. It was not that Justice McGoldrick felt that the sanctity of the supreme court of New York state would be violated by boop-a-doop singing. The section of the law under which Helen is suing refers to pictures only.

Betty flashed her garter on the screen silently. The press laughed. The bench did not. Helen started in a seven-reel affair called "Dangerous Nan McGrew." After the first reel the operator began filing on another.

"I've seen enough," said the judge.

This treaty pledged the nine powers having interests in the Far East to protect Chinese sovereignty, and pledged them as well to protect the principle of the open door in China.

Of course, the nine-power treaty was pretty well muddled up by Japan's war on Shanghai several years ago, and her subsequent invasion and conquering of Manchuria. Still, the skeleton of the treaty remained, and it has been the hope of Washington that Japanese ambitions had been satisfied by the establishment of the puppet state of Manchukuo.

Apparently this hope is not to be fulfilled. Tokio dispatches, obviously from official sources, report that the new Japanese policy is aimed to prevent the sale of foreign airplanes to the Chinese Nationalist government, and to prevent "politico-economic" loans.

Directed At U. S.

Aged Man Taken To Hospital
After Board Wall Top-

Francis Bowers, aged 60, 519 West North street, was being treated today at the Jameson Memorial hospital for a severe right leg laceration which he sustained Wednesday afternoon when he walked into the new post office property and was struck by a falling frame platform. Officials say he entered against the "no trespassing" signs.

He was expected to be discharged from the hospital soon.

Bowers, an RWD worker, was walking along the wall inside the property, when he slipped and fell onto a platform, which became dislodged and toppled on him.

Illinois Bank Robbery Nets Sum Of $30,000

BANK EMPLOYEES

(International News Service)

PANA, Ill., April 19.—Four unmasked men held up the First National Bank here today and escaped with $30,000 in cash. The robbers were reported to have fled in the direction of Taylorville.

The bandits approached the bank this morning. Gus Smith, 60-year-old janitor standing outside the bank was knocked unconscious by one of the bandits and his keys taken from him.

The robbers then went inside. When the bank employees arrived they were lined up and J. A. Clark, cashier, was forced to open the vault.

The proprietor of a business house adjoining the bank said he was positive "one of the robbers was Dillinger." Officers however were inclined to doubt his statement.

ACCUSED POLICE SLAYERS GOING TO TRIAL

Marching through a line of spectators, Murton Miller and his brother, Irving, and Abe Faber, accused slayers of two policemen at Needham, Mass., during a bank holdup, are shown leaving the courthouse at Dedham, Mass., following a session of their trial on murder charges, in custody of guards. The trial has attracted widespread interest throughout the country.

Treaty Is Just Piece Of Paper

Japanese Say Nine-Power Treaty Guaranteeing
"Open Door" In China Void

(International News Service)

TOKYO, April 19.—The nine-power treaty, by whom Japan and the principal western nations guaranteed the "open door" in China, has become "null and void," according to a Japanese war office spokesman as quoted in the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi today.

The war office was quoted as thoroughly indorsing the foreign office announcement Tuesday that Japan would oppose foreign military and "political" economic relief being given China.

Bonds Are Breaking Apart.

The tightly wound bonds among the three youths and a minister's daughter based on love, comradeship and a mad chase after excitement were tearing themselves.

The adamant loyalty of lovely 19-year-old Norma, five-months-old bride of Murton, was weakening.

Norma, under the constant pleading of her father, the Rev. Norman Brighton, and the pressure of captivity, has dropped her melodrama. Since she was arrested on the charge of being an accessory after the fact in connection with the robbery and murder, she has reiterated with Murton that she would "stick with him."

But much sunlight has cast long shadows through the bars of her lonely cell, and now she has decided to move to save her own skin.

Shenango River Canal Plan Is Being Studied

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 20.—Outline of the Powell canal proposition designed to provide a river outlet for the Sharon district through the proposed Beaver-Mahoning water route will be given proper study, Major W. D. Styler of the U. S. war department engineers told International News Service today.

The plans, as proposed by Norman S. Powell, have not arrived at the local office, Styler said, but were en route. Any study made of the Powell route would be added to data already collected on the various Ohio River-Lake Erie canal routes.

Under the Powell plan a 30-foot dam would be constructed in the Shenango river two miles above New Castle to raise the water level and connect with the two-river waterway.

President Hopes To Establish Permanent System Of Arbitration

WAGNER BILL IS BEING REVAMPED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Apr. 19.—President Roosevelt today attempted the building of a permanent system of arbitration of labor disputes. Determined to end the use of the disastrous strike as an argument.

Two legislative measures pending before congress—the Wagner Labor Board bill and unemployment insurance plan—formed the basis of the effort. He called Senator Wagner (D) of New York, and other administrative aides to the White House for a conference on the general legislative program.

Hopes For Plan

Out of the conference Mr. Roosevelt hopes will come a final plan for legislation designed to effect the desired results. Secretary of Labor Perkins, Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, and other aides, were to attend in addition to Wagner, who heads the present national labor board.

Mr. Roosevelt expects to retain in the final legislative proposals the principles embodied in the Wagner measures, but believes there must be modifications. He has indicated that at least two requirements must be met. The legislation must prevent company domination of all employees' unions, and must provide for a specific labor board of mediation before which labor disputes can be brought.

With regard to unemployment insurance, Mr. Roosevelt approves the principle of the pending legislation. He believes the proposed five percent payroll tax too heavy a burden for industry to carry. He favors a tax of something like two or two and a half percent, and the legislation as finally approved by him will probably carry such a tax.

Wants Speedy Action

The president wants speedy action on the labor legislation once it is drafted. He declared in his semi-weekly press conference that he wanted the present session of congress (Continued On Page Two)

County To Open Warfare Upon Slot Machines

District Attorney Ailey Gives Formal Notice To All Merchants

FEW DAYS GRACE WILL BE ALLOWED

If Machines Are Not Removed Prosecutions Will Follow, He Says

Slot machines of all kinds, dredging machines that dig prizes out of candy pellets, and punch boards are out in Lawrence County District Attorney Mont L. Ailey announced today. In a sweeping statement that includes every device of chance he warned merchants and other persons who have the slot machines installed in their places to remove them at once. Failure to do so will result in arrest.

In the past sixty days New Castle and Lawrence County have been flooded with slot machines. Following the raids in Pittsburgh the slot machine owners sent their machines out to outlying cities and New Castle and Lawrence County got many machines.

The practice must be discontinued immediately. Mr. Ailey said that he would allow a reasonable time for the removal of the machines, because of the fact that many merchants had inquired sometime ago whether or not machines returning candy along with the chance of winning checks were legal. They are not according to Mr. Ailey, and the fact that they return a package of candy with the chance at winning, does not bring them within the law.

Statement Of District Attorney

The statement of Mr. Ailey follows: "Complaints have been made to (Continued On Page Two)

(Special To The News)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 19.—The famous "Wirt dinner" proved one thing. That is that these highbrows can't remember what happened at their dinners any more than us dumb ones can remember what happens at ours.

What difference does it make what was said at a dinner, anyhow? If it's a real dinner and everybody is going good, there won't be anything sensible said anyhow.

You know there are two places where what a person says should not be held against 'em in a court of law. One is at a dinner and the other on the witness stand of a Washington investigation.

Both affairs are purely social and should be covered only by the society editor.

Court Sees Pictures In $250,000 Suit Brought By Actress

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 19.—Helen Kane and Betty Boop fought it out on the screen in an afternoon of the court where her $250,000 suit against Paramount Public corporation was resumed today.

It was the first command performance of its kind in American legal history. Justice Edward J. McGoldrick concluded that seeing was the only way of deciding whether the little animated cartoon figure (but wotta figure) was a "steal" on Helen Kane's amplitudinous one.

The show was a flop as Justice McGoldrick decided to see the films without sound effects. It was not that Justice McGoldrick felt that the sanctity of the supreme court of New York state would be violated by boop-a-dooping. The section of the law under which Helen is suing refers to pictures only.

Betty flashed her garter on the screen silently. The press laughed. The bench did not. Helen started in a seven-reel affair called "Dangerous Nan McGrew." After the first reel the operator began fitting on another.

"I've seen enough," said the judge.

(International News Service)
ZION CITY, Ill., April 19.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church of Zion, today served notice on his enemies that he stands ready to meet hostility with gunplay and wholesale killings, if necessary.

Speaking before the weekly prayer meeting in Zion's Tabernacle Voliva lashed out against his foes and scored the citizens of his community for defeating his three candidates in the school board election last Saturday.

"I was brought up as a gunman, and when I was a boy I carried two guns," Voliva shouted at his audience of 2,000 persons.

"I am heavily armed now, and I'll kill a man at the drop of a hat in self-defense. My guards are ordered to shoot at a second's warning.

"I've got enough guards to kill a hundred people and I'm an honest, good-natured old warrior with a few yellow curs against me. Threats, veiled and otherwise, have been made against me. Let them act, and I guarantee to kill any hundred persons.

"My day will end some time. Maybe the world will end next September, but Voliva will always be on top. People who say I won't be a fool of the devil."

Pa Newc noted quite a grass fire burning near East New Castle early last evening. The fire was not endangering buildings however, and was probably extinguished by the rain during the night.

Residents on Laurel avenue, are complaining of the stray dogs which are destroying the work on the lawn in that section of the city. Early in the spring when the little new shoots are coming up in the flower beds, it is not conducive to blooms when the dogs scratch out the little plants and the people who are asked to keep them tied up or confined to their own yards in order to avert this havoc.

Pa Newc is asked why spring house cleaning cannot be extended to New Castle street cars? Pa Newc passes the inquiry along to the officials of the street car company. There is a lot of room for action in this respect. Window cleaning, painting, scrubbing, etc., would work wonders on the cars.

State department officials are pre-serving strict silence concerning the new Japanese policy. But privately they are worried over the evident trend of affairs. The open door in China has been an American policy of long standing, and they view Japan's new policy as virtually, if not actually, closing that door—provided always that Japan follows through.

sign office were barking at each other in lively fashion. Since the change in administrations, President Roosevelt has been so occupied with domestic affairs that little attention has been paid to the Orient.

If now, however, the new Japanese policy is to reduce China to a Japanese protectorate, with Tokio dictating what other powers may or may not sell in China, or what commercial credits they may extend, the matter becomes serious.

China is one of America's best customers—for cotton, tobacco, tin, manufactured products, and other things. With the administration striving to improve American foreign trade, Washington can hardly look with equanimity upon a Japanese move that will restrict commercial freedom in the Far East.

this office that a number of slot machines and other gambling devices are in operation in this county, particularly in New Castle and Elwood City. We have reason to believe that many proprietors of business establishments have been induced to install these machines through the representations of salesmen and other promoters that their use is lawful. In fact we have received numerous inquiries from reputable merchants as to whether such devices are lawful or not.

"While vending machines for the purpose of convenient sale of merchandise are not objectionable, yet it would appear that many of the so-called vending machines come under the classification of gambling devices, the maintenance of which is unlawful.

"By vending machine we mean any machine that returns merchandise to the full value of the money inserted in the machine. Among these would be cigarette or chewing gum vending machines. A machine that returns merchandise but also gives the player an opportunity to win money, trade checks or a grand prize is a slot machine and is illegal.

"A machine is illegal if it presents a hazard as to the winning of money or some property through its operation and is not purely a reward for the exhibition of skill. The mere fact that the player receives merchandise of inconsequential value from each operation does not remove it from the class of gambling which are prohibited by law. These same principles apply to the so-called number racks.

"We are making this public announcement so that those who are operating such devices may know that their continued operation will subject them to prosecution, and we therefore are taking this opportunity to protect our position in the matter. It shall hereafter be the policy of this office to take such action as shall be necessary to prevent the operation within the county of these unlawful devices."

Tennis Court Plan Is Given Consideration

Tennis Players Discuss Plan To Maintain Courts In City

Probabilities are that tennis players of the city will take kindly to the proposal that to properly maintain and supervise municipal tennis courts here, season tickets at $1 may be sold.

Under the plan advanced by tennis enthusiasts, the one dollar payment would entitle the player to a ticket which would permit him or her to use any city tennis court during certain hours of the day.

The supervisor would look after the court and assign periods for play which would preclude monopolization. No one would be permitted to use the courts during certain hours only those having memberships.

Under the plan advanced the courts would be given over free to the youngsters during the mornings. When Director of Parks Joseph Alexander was asked concerning the plan today he said that on the surface it appeared all right. The playground appropriation only received $750 from council when the budget was made.

Of the $750, about $500 was borrowed for use at the city golf course. Therefore indications are there will not be money of any sizable amount to employ caretakers of the tennis courts.

Under the plan, the $1 permit would go toward the salary of the caretaker. In fact the tennis players, excepting the youngsters, would actually be paying for maintenance and supervision and be certain of a play period.

It is reported that under the recreation board, the volunteers will be asked to supervise the children at the playgrounds. The board would like to open the playgrounds for children if there is any way that supervision can be had.

legal move to quash the indictments against her.

Seeks Dismissal
The motions to abate and dismiss the indictments were filed in superior court by George Douglas, her attorney.

Murton Miller, who has been buoyed up in his ordeal by the feeling that Norma was supporting him, views this move of his bride as rank treachery.

He frankly showed his feelings in the matter by ignoring her affectionate salutation as he passed her in the jail rotunda when taken back from the court session.

Norma threw him a kiss from her finger-tips.

Murton, who smirks frequently in the courtroom, did not even smile at the girl he used to call "Kitten," nor by any slight gesture did he acknowledge the greeting.

There was also an obvious coolness growing between the Miller brothers and Abe Faber.

The trio, in the iron-bound cage packed together. But there are no further signs of bondship. Not once during their last sojourn in the courtroom have either of the brothers spoken to Faber.

While the breach between the brothers and their former chum is apparent, the reasons are only hearsay.

Some say it is because of Norma, that Faber had always opposed taking her into their confidence, that the trio owe their present grim predicament to Norma's talking too much.

Some say it is because the brothers feel that Faber has a better chance to "beat the rap" because of the general defense plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity."

The six jurors already selected at the Miller-Faber murder trial will spend their holiday playing ping-pong and going for a bus ride during part of the annual Patriots' Day marathon.

Motorists on the Elwood City highway Wednesday evening saw one of the most extensive brush fires of the season. About a quarter of a mile east of the old East New Castle Station of the Western Allegheny, an area of about ten acres of grass and brush were burning.

The first report was that a general conflagration had broken out at East Castle, but this proved to be untrue. No buildings were endangered and the fire burned itself out.

Refused Drinks; Create Trouble

Tom Winters, colored, was a defendant on a charge of disorderly conduct today in city police court but was discharged by Mayor Mayne. It is alleged he entered a beer parlor last night. He was accompanied by Bedford Donnellis, also colored.

The proprietor refused to serve the men, told the men they had had enough to drink and alleged they were drunk when they tried to enter the place.

Winters is alleged to have taken a punch at Tony Ross and when Ross swung, he hit Donnellis. Ross then chased Winters and police took Winters in charge.

Winters told police at the station house that he was to blame for the trouble, according to the police report.

One way to determine your social class is to get drunk in public and see what happens to you.

Residents on Laurel avenue, are complaining of the stray dogs which are destroying the work on the lawns in that section of the city. Early in the spring when the little flower shoots are coming up in the flower beds, it is not conducive to blooms when the dogs scratch out the little plants and the people having dogs are asked to keep them tied up or confined to their own yards in order to avert this havoc.

The open door in China has been an American policy of long standing, and they view Japan's new policy as virtually, if not actually, closing that door—provided always that Japan follows through.

Japanese-American relations during the first year of the Roosevelt administration have been relatively cordial, at least in comparison to what they were during the last two years of the Hoover administration.

Tennis Court Plan Is Given Consideration

Tennis Players Discuss Plan To Maintain Courts In City

Probabilities are that tennis players of the city will take kindly to the proposal that to properly maintain and supervise municipal tennis courts here, season tickets at $1 may be sold.

Under the plan advanced by tennis enthusiasts, the one dollar payment would entitle the player to a ticket which would permit him or her to use any of the city courts during certain hours of the day.

The supervisor would look after the court and assign periods for play which would preclude monopolization. No one would be permitted to use the courts during certain hours only those having memberships.

Under the plan advanced the courts would be given over free to the youngsters during the mornings. Director of Parks Joseph Alexander was asked concerning the plan today he said that on the surface it appeared all right. The playground appropriation only received $750 from council when the budget was made up.

Of the $750, about $500 was borrowed for use at the city golf course. Therefore indications are there will not be money of any considerable amount to employ caretakers of the tennis courts.

Under the plan, the $1 permit would go toward the salary of the caretaker. In fact the tennis players, excepting the youngsters, would actually be paying for maintenance and supervision and be certain of a play period.

It is reported that under the recreation board plan volunteers will be asked to supervise the children at the playgrounds. The board would like to open the playgrounds for children if there is any way that supervision can be had.

Seeks Dismissal.
The motions to abate and dismiss the indictments were filed in superior court by George Douglas, her attorney.

Murton Millen, who has been bowed up in his ordeal by the feeling that Norma was supporting him, views this move of his bride as rank treachery.

He frankly showed his feelings in the matter by ignoring her affectionate salutation as he passed her in the jail rotunda when taken back from the court session.

Norma threw him a kiss from her fingers tips.
Murton, who smirks frequently in the courtroom, did not even smile at the girl he used to call "Kitten", nor by any slight gesture did he acknowledge the greeting.

There was also an obvious coolness growing between the Millen brothers and Alex Faber.
The trio in the iron-bound cage in the courtroom, are involuntarily shackled together. But there are no further signs of bondship. Not once during their last sojourn in the courtroom have either of the brothers spoken to Faber.

While the breach between the brothers and their former chum is apparent, the reasons are only hearsay.

Some say it is because of Norma, that Faber had always opposed taking her into their confidence, that the trio owe their present grim predicament to Norma's talking too much.

Some say it is because the brothers feel that he has a better chance of "beat the rap" because of the general defense plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity."

The six jurors already selected at the Millen-Faber murder trial will spend their holiday playing ping-pong and going for a bus ride during which they will probably witness part of the annual Patriots' Day marathon.

State department officials are preserving strict silence concerning the new Japanese policy. But privately they are worried over the evident trend of affairs. The open door in China has been an American policy of long standing, and they view Japan's new policy as virtually, if not actually, closing that door—provided always that Japan follows through.

Under the plan advanced by tennis enthusiasts, the one dollar payment would entitle the player to a ticket to use any city tennis court during certain hours of the day.

The supervisor would look after the court and assign periods for play which would preclude monopolization. No one would be permitted to use the courts during certain hours only those having memberships.

Under the plan advanced by the courts would be given over free to the youngsters during the mornings.

When Director of Parks Joseph Alexander was asked concerning the plan today he said that on the surface it appeared all right. The playground appropriation only received $750 from council when the budget was made up.

Of the $750, about $500 was borrowed for use at the city golf course. Therefore indications are there will not be money of any sizable amount to employ caretakers of the tennis courts.

Under the plan, the $1 permit would go toward the salary of the caretaker. In fact the tennis play, excepting the youngsters, would actually be paying for maintenance and supervision and be certain of a play period.

It is reported that under the recreation board plan volunteers will be asked to supervise the children at the playgrounds. The board would like to open the playgrounds for children if there is any way that supervision can be had.

legal move to quash the indictments against her.

Seeks Dismissal.
The motions to abate and dismiss the indictments were filed in superior court by George Douglas, her attorney.

Murton Millen, who has been buoyed up in his ordeal by the feeling that Norma was supporting him, views this move of his bride as rank treachery.

He frankly showed his feelings in the matter by ignoring her affectionate salutation as he passed her in the jail rounds when taken back from the court session.

Norma threw him a kiss from her finger-tips.

Murton, who smirks frequently in the courtroom, did not even smile at the girl he used to call "Kitten" nor by any slight gesture did he acknowledge the greeting.

There was also an obvious coolness growing between the Millen brothers and Abe Faber.

The trio, in the iron-bound cage in the courtroom, are involuntarily shackled together. But there are no further signs of bondship. Not once during their last sojourn in the courtroom have either of the brothers spoken to Faber.

While the breach between the brothers and their former chum is apparent, the reasons are only hearsay.

Some say it is because of Norma, that Faber had always opposed taking her into their confidence, that the trio owe their present grim predicament to Norma's talking too much.

Some say it is because the brothers feel that Faber has a better chance to "beat the rap" because of the general defense plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity."

The six jurors already selected at the Millen-Faber murder trial will the holiday playing ping-pong and going for a bus ride during which they will probably witness part of the annual Patriots' Day marathon.

Word has been received from Mrs. James T. Ray, regent of the American Daughters of the American Revolution, who is representing the local chapter at the forty-third Continental Congress being held in Washington, D. C., this week, that very interesting sessions are being held.

The activities of Pennsylvania Daughters during the past year were reviewed last night by Mrs. William Alexander, of Monongahela, Pennsylvania state regent.

Declaring that Pennsylvania's Daughters had decided briefly would be their watchword in the matter of reports, Mrs. Alexander presented a condensed resume to the congress, among the important facts brought out being the following:

The state has created a new bureau for filing and lending historical papers.

Outstanding work of the state, the erection of six markers along the General's Highway, otherwise known as Route 13—the road that Washington took when he went from New York to Annapolis after the Revolution, to lay down his command. AUTO OUTPUT RISES

AUTOMOBILE production has come to represent one of the most reliable means of measuring business. An increase or a decline is taken as reflecting conditions generally prevailing throughout the country.

Especially important, from this standpoint, therefore, are the figures for March announced by the National Automobile chamber of commerce. Production last month reached the highest point touched in any month since September, 1929. More men also were employed in the automobile industry during March than for any month during the same period.

The total output of cars and trucks was 262,156 units. This was more than three times greater than that for the corresponding month of 1933, or 208 per cent. It represented a 49 per cent increase over the February production.

With these figures as a basis, the chamber estimated the first quarter production at 539,128 units, or an increase of 84 per cent as compared with that of last year. It also said that "nearly every automobile company is reporting heavy lists of unfilled orders."

The showing of the automobile industry for March was made despite serious labor troubles, and is more significant by reason of this fact.

The United States seems to be not only getting on its feet again, but on its wheels.

LENDING AGAIN

In the negotiations for a new trade agreement with Cuba there is said to be under consideration a loan by the United States government to the Cuban government of ten million dollars, besides a credit in our new Export-Import bank of twenty-five to thirty million dollars to Cuban merchants for financing the purchase of oil commodities.

With all due regard to the administration's commendable intention to revive our foreign trade, Americans impressed by the present state of our previous foreign loans and credits will hear of these proposals with some disquiet, suggests the Chicago Tribune. The paper continues: Recent events in Cuba have not disclosed Cuban conditions as very reliable as a basis of credit even though they are at the moment not in violent explosion. It may be possible that the ten million dollar government loan is fulfillment of an inducement to Cuba to bring her internal affairs to some sort of stability, but Americans will not understand that they are in duty bound to bribe the Cubans to save themselves from chaos.

Cuba, we are often indignantly reminded by Cubans, is a free and independent state with which we have no right to interfere, and we are invited to cancel even the small legal right of intervention declared in the Platt amendment.

In almost every Latin-American country the bogey of American imperialism is useful at least in domestic politics and every action taken by us for the protection of American rights and interests is exploited to inflame opinion against us, not only by Latin-American politicians but by those foreign interests that compete with us. So-called liberalism in our own country apparently sympathizes with this propaganda.

Zeal for the stimulation of our foreign trade would better be tempered by considerations which these facts suggest. There is no duty on our part to buy from the Cubans their own peace and stability, and if the bargain is to be examined, as would be sensible from the point of view of expediency, both the political and economic considerations which throw doubt on its wisdom ought not to be ignored. Perhaps ten million dollars or thirty are small sums to venture in the present day of astronomical figures of government largess but there is also an issue of sound policy. Conditions in Cuba suggest the probability that our loans will have no better luck than larger sums advanced to greater and presumably more responsible nations. And what was a loan will become an offense; not an obligation to be paid, but a sinister device of imperial exploitation to be conveniently repudiated in the sacred name of independence.

FOREST FIRE HAZARD IN STATE

Of Pennsylvania's 13 million acres of woodland at least five million acres have been kept in an idle condition by fire reminds the State Department of Forests and Waters. In Penn's Woods more timber has been kept from reaching merchantable size as a result of fire than was ever harvested by lumbermen. Only a few million acres now have merchantable timber upon them. The balance has only young growth, and vast areas are covered with nothing but brushy thickets of little value except as soil cover.

The forests of Pennsylvania are valuable. In our great national emergency, especially during the past winter, they furnished labor for some 20,000 emergency conservation workers located in the civilian conservation corps camps throughout the state, and some 7,000 men employed under the Civilian Works Administration. The more the forests contribute to our welfare, the more we should do to protect and perpetuate them.

Fire not only kills and injures the growing timber, but it destroys the seeds, the small seedlings, and the sprouts that must be depended upon to produce the forests of the future. Fire causes the loss of game and fish. Insectivorous birds, their young and their eggs, are destroyed by fire. Fire destroys the scenic beauty of our wooded mountains. Green forests, with their streams steadily clear and flowing, are made desolate when fire sweeps through them.

Fishermen, hikers, motorists, campers, and sportsmen generally are urged to be careful with fire when they are in the woods. When a fire is detected, a good citizen will make an effort to put it out. If he cannot extinguish it, he should report it promptly to the nearest forest fire warden, of whom there are 4,000 in Pennsylvania, ready and equipped to respond to forest fire calls.

Remember that forest fire is every man's enemy and nobody's friend.

HE DOESN'T HATE ANYBODY

I know a man who doesn't hate anybody.

He says he doesn't, and I know it's true.

I'm not saying that he likes or loves everybody he knows.

The man has some discrimination, and he is a good judge of human nature. He has lived long, had many controversies and battles in his life; he knows people outside in and inside out, and so he likes some people better than he likes others.

But he doesn't hate anybody. He sees inside of them and most of the time when you think he ought to be hating a person you discover that he is merely slightly annoyed, or even amused. Or, most terrible of all, he is sorry for them. They don't know he's sorry for them. If they did they'd be furious with rage.

After all, most of us would far rather be hated than pitied. You're somebody, you're imposing and definite, if you are hated. But the other fellow's pity shrinks you, puts you on the defensive, belittles you more than you can stand.

Sometimes his friends are annoyed with this man, who doesn't hate anybody. They develop a nice clean rage against a man or a woman who is no friend of his. . . . a righteous and unselfish anger. . . . and then they discover that they have merely wasted their fuming and fulminating. They're mad, but he isn't. He's not with them at all. He's far away from them, attending to his own affairs in his own fashion. It's very distressing. And they tell him so. And he laughs at them. He doesn't see why he should be wasting any part of his life in hating when there are so many other things he prefers to do. He stopped hating people a long time ago, and he advises them to do the same. . . . Hatred sends the blood pressure up. . . . Quivering gives you a sick feeling in the pit of the stomach. When you're angry, you merely make a spectacle of yourself. . . . That's what he says, and you know he is right. You can't live up to his ideas. You're not as wise as he is, nor as strong. . . . But between your right and your wisdom you could be as sensible as he though you know you never will be.

OLD FRIENDS ARE GOOD FRIENDS.

In reminiscent mood you often wonder about some of the young people you knew when you were young.

Indirectly, you have heard about some of them and probably you have managed to see some of those who prospered.

How about the ones who have not met with much success? Probably they are the ones who would most appreciate a visit from you.

They realize that they have not outwardly gained the position you have attained.

You think you have forgotten them. In fact, they feel you would rather forget them.

This thought is not the least of the troublesome ones they have.

To make a difference in the life and joy of your friends, just because you have gained prominence and have picked up other friends is really too bad.

The friends you have known the longest are the ones you should try hardest to keep.

Be a better sport in the future and look up the old friends.

Give the most attention to those who have the least.

They say that bachelors are free from cares that worry men like me; they're none to question where they've been.

Or what they've done or what they've seen.

But likewise they have few who care what light or heavy tasks they bear.

And whether joy or grief they own, at home they sit with it alone.

And walking in or strolling out, they've but themselves to think about.

But likewise they have none who tell them to welcome them with eyes elate.

And dance with joy to hear them tell that everything with them is well.

We married men must oft forego small pleasures we should like to know.

But many a man who wins a maid for his devotion is repaid with countless little tender deeds.

The male so often sorely needs. It truly can be said of men, they must be babied now and then.

The bachelors may say: "Pish! Pish! We do precisely as we wish." But still I think I'd rather be Part prisoner than wholly free.

AL SMILES

There is one man in New York who is smiling to himself over Senator McAdoo's criticism of some of the Rooseveltian policies. That man is Alfred E. Smith. Smith recalls how he thought he had made up his mind to support McAdoo at the 1932 Chicago convention when saw McAdoo give the push to the Roosevelt bandwagon that put it over.

Of course, Smith himself is not a great believer in the New Deal.

TO PASS? The presidential program for legislation to be passed by congress is not so small as propaganda pointing out Mr. Roosevelt's absence made it appear. Foremost, the president desires $1,500,000,000 additional for relief, the distribution to be left in his hands.

New York hears that these measures (nearly all epoch-making) are scheduled:

Reciprocal tariff powers for the president; tax bill, with higher taxes for large incomes; stock market regulation bill, with "teeth"; bill to regulate commodity exchanges; bill to permit municipalities to compromise their debts, through agreement with a majority of their creditors; bill to extend temporary insurance of bank deposits; legislation for huge housing program; communications control bill and Senator Wagner's labor bill.

That would leave out such important measures as unemployment insurance, the Connery 30-hour week, the Tugwell flood and drug bill, and government payoff of depositors in closed banks, as well as the silver purchase bill.

The last two mentioned promise to cause considerable trouble to the president in the form of filibusters and outright insurgency.

BANK PAYOFF The Roosevelt administration always has been opposed to payoff of depositors in closed banks.

The first column in America to make mention of payoffs was this one. This writer went to Washington the first month President Roosevelt was in office and ascertained then that the administration considered the bank failures as "water over the dam."

That was the view brought to Washington from Wall Street by the then Secretary of the Treasury Woodin and his group of advisers, all men with the Wall Street view.

Opponents of that view pointed out (1) that the government had urged people not to hoard but to put their money into banks, especially the Federal Reserve banks; and (2) that the failure of these banks, in the majority of cases, was occasioned by the siphoning of funds from them by Wall Street.

At any rate, those who gambled right by putting their money into banks that did not fail escaped 100 per cent. Those who chose the wrong banks, through no fault of their own, lost everything.

Advocates of the payoff plan pointed out a year ago that billions of dollars cast here and there would not, in their opinion, stimulate recovery so much as a payoff to millions of savers, who would put the money into circulation in thousands of channels and provide legitimate employment.

History Repeats! By a singular coincidence, April 19 is the anniversary of the first battle of the Revolutionary War, the first bloodshed of the Civil War and the first of the World War. And the other major conflict of the U. S.—the war with Spain, was launched April 20!

History's Great Days: Wednesday, April 19, 1775—Major John Pitcairn, 35, leading an advance detail of 800 British troops, sent secretly from Boston in the night to seize military stores collected by colonists at Concord, had a surprise awaiting him at Lexington, a village six miles from Concord.

By the dawn's early light he saw 70 unwavering men commanded by Capt. Jonas Parker, drawn up in the town square to bar his way. He spurred his horse forward and shouted in a voice thick with Scotch burr:

"Disperse! disperse, you rebels! Down with your arms, and disperse!"

Parker and his company held their ground. Pitcairn gave the order which had consequences so great that no one in either England or America suspected them at the time. British rifles spurted flame which killed eight good men of Massachusetts, wounded others and dispersed the rest.

The king's horses and the king's men marched on to Concord. The shots fired at Lexington were not heard around the world, as we are figuratively told, but they were heard at Concord, and by the time the British had plodded there through intense heat and intolerable dust, there was such a force of townspeople and farmers, armed with flintlocks, pistols, pitchforks, axes and clubs, to oppose them, that the opportune arrival of reinforcements was all that saved Pitcairn's men from capture or execution.

Seven hundred exultant militiamen from Essex harried the British retreat to Charlestown and swelled the total losses of His Majesty's forces on the ill-fated expedition to 273 killed and wounded. Americans lost 103.

April 19, 1775—All that day Israel Bissell, 23, rode the road to New York shouting, "To arms, to arms, the war has begun!", pulling up only to change horses.

Friday, when Bissell paused in New Haven, Capt. Benedict Arnold of the governor's guard called him to men together and started to march to Boston. At noon Sunday Israel brought crowds into Wall Street in New York with his sensational news. Tuesday he let Philadelphia know of the goings on at Lexington and Concord.

But an unkind fate was to submerge him and his unparalleled feat of relay-riding in obscurity while the new nation celebrated Paul Revere and his comparatively insignificant trip as a heroic deed.

April 19, 1861—The first blood was shed in combat in the War of the States. As five regiments of infantry and a battery of artillery (sent by Gov. John A. Andrew of Massachusetts in response to President Lincoln's call to arms) were marching through Baltimore, they

Roosevelt Hold Increases
Wall Street Nibblers
Bills That Are To Pass?

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Apr. 19.—Reports coming in to this writer from all parts of the United States indicate that the Roosevelt is stronger than ever with the people in the West. People have such confidence in him they would not care if he did away with congress altogether.

(But, of course, we may not always have a Roosevelt as president.)

MICE AT PLAY It wasn't so much mice at play (in congress) during the president's absence as Wall Street nibblers.

Wall Street set out to wreck the entire presidential program.

In the senate banking committee, the bill for the regulation of stock exchanges had its teeth pulled.

And there was considerable underhand work to undermine other Rooseveltian policies.

Teeth pullers were Republican Senators Keane of New Jersey, who has been in the stock exchange business for years; Townsend of Delaware; and William Gibbs McAdoo of California.

McAdoo has become the most powerful critic of the Roosevelt administration.

There is one man in New York who is smiling to himself over Senator McAdoo's criticism of some of the Rooseveltian policies. That man is Alfred E. Smith. Smith recalls how he thought he had made up his mind to support McAdoo at the 1932 Chicago convention when saw McAdoo give the push to the Roosevelt bandwagon that put it over.

AUTO OUTPUT RISES

AUTOMOBILE production has come to represent one of the most reliable means of measuring business. An increase or a decline is taken as reflecting conditions generally prevailing throughout the country.

Especially important, from this standpoint, therefore, are the figures for March announced by the National Automobile chamber of commerce. Production last month reached the highest point touched in any month since September, 1929. More men also were employed in the automobile industry during March than for any month during the same period.

The total output of cars and trucks was 262,156 units. This was more than three times greater than that for the corresponding month of 1933, or 208 per cent. It represented a 49 per cent increase over the February production.

With these figures as a basis, the chamber estimated the first quarter production at 539,128 units, or an increase of 84 percent as compared with that of last year. It also said that "nearly every automobile company is reporting heavy lists of unfilled orders."

The showing of the automobile industry for March was made despite serious labor troubles, and is more significant by reason of this fact.

The United States seems to be not only getting on its feet again, but on its wheels.

LENDING AGAIN

In the negotiations for a new trade agreement with Cuba there is said to be under consideration a loan by the United States government to the Cuban government of ten million dollars, besides a credit in our new Export-Import bank of twenty-five to thirty million dollars to Cuban merchants for financing the purchase of out commodities.

With all due regard to the administration's commendable intention to revive our foreign trade, Americans impressed by the present state of our previous foreign loans and credits will hear of these proposals with some disquiet, suggests the Chicago Tribune. The paper continues: Recent events in Cuba have not disclosed Cuban conditions as very reliable as a basis of credit even though they are at the moment not in violent explosion. It may be possible that the ten million dollar government loan is fulfillment of an inducement to Cuba to bring her internal affairs to some sort of stability, but Americans will not understand that they are in duty bound to bribe the Cubans to save themselves from chaos.

Cuba, we are often indignantly reminded by Cubans, is a free and independent state with which we have no right to interfere, and we are invited to cancel even the small legal right of intervention declared in the Platt amendment.

In almost every Latin-American country the bog of American imperialism is useful at least in domestic politics and every action taken by us for the protection of American rights and interests is exploited to inflame opinion against us, not only by Latin-American politicians but by those foreign interests that compete with us. So-called liberalism in our own country apparently sympathizes with this propaganda.

Zeal for the stimulation of our foreign trade would better be tempered by considerations which these facts suggest. There is no duty on our part to buy from the Cubans their own peace and stability, and if the bargain is to be examined, as would be sensible from the point of view of expediency, both the political and economic considerations which throw doubt on its wisdom ought not to be ignored. Perhaps ten million dollars or thirty are small sums to venture in the present day of astronomical figures of government largess but there is also an issue of sound policy. Conditions in Cuba suggest the probability that our loans will have no better luck than larger sums advanced to greater and presumably more responsible nations. And what was a loan will become an offense; not an obligation to be paid, but a sinister device of imperial exploitation to be conveniently repudiated in the sacred name of independence.

FOREST FIRE HAZARD IN STATE

Of Pennsylvania's 13 million acres of woodland at least five million acres have been kept in an idle condition by fire reminds the State Department of Forests and Waters. In Penn's Woods more timber has been kept from reaching merchantable size as a result of fire than has ever harvested by lumbermen. Only a few million acres now have merchantable timber upon them. The balance has only young growth, and vast areas are covered with nothing but brushy thickets of little value except as soil cover.

The forests of Pennsylvania are valuable. In our great national emergency, especially during the past winter, they furnished labor for some 20,000 emergency conservation workers located in the civilian conservation corps camps throughout the state, and some 7,000 men employed under the Civilian Works Administration. The more the forests contribute to our welfare, the more we should do to protect and perpetuate them.

Fire not only kills and injures the growing timber, but it destroys the seeds, the small seedlings, and the sprouts that must be expended upon to produce the forests of the future. Fire causes the loss of game and fish. Insectivorous birds, their young and their eggs, are destroyed by fire. Fire destroys the scenic beauty of our wooded mountains. Green forests, with their streams steadily clear and flowing, are made desolate when fire sweeps through them.

Practically every fire that burns in the woodlands of our state is the result of man's carelessness and is therefore preventable.

Fishermen, hikers, motorists, campers, and sportsmen generally are urged to be careful with fire when they are in the woods. When a fire is detected, a good citizen will make an effort to put it out. If he cannot extinguish it, he should report it promptly to the nearest forest fire warden, of whom there are 4,000 in Pennsylvania, ready and equipped to respond to forest fire calls.

Remember that forest fire is every man's enemy and nobody's friend.

HE DOESN'T HATE ANYBODY
I know a man who doesn't hate anybody.

He says he doesn't, and I know it's true.

I'm not saying that he likes or loves everybody he knows. The man has some discrimination, and he is a good judge of human nature. He has lived long, had many controversies and battles in his life; he knows people outside in and inside out, and so he likes some people better than he likes others.

But he doesn't hate anybody. He sees inside of them and most of the time when you think he ought to be hating a person you discover that he is merely slightly annoyed, or even amused, or, most terrible of all, he is sorry for them. They don't know how to get along. If they did, they'd be furious with rage. After all, most of us would rather be hated than pitied. You're somebody, you're imposing and definite, if you are hated. But the other fellow's pity shrinks you, puts you on the defensive, belittles you more than you can stand.

Sometimes his friends are annoyed with this man, who doesn't hate anybody. They develop a nice clean rage against a man or a woman who is no friend of his. . . a righteous and unselfish anger. . . and then they discover that they have merely wasted their fuming and fulminating. They're mad, but he isn't. He's not with them at all. He's far away from them, attending to his own affairs in his own fashion. It's very distressing. And they tell him so. And he laughs at them. . . He doesn't see why he should be wasting any part of his life in hating when there are so many other things he prefers to do. He stopped hating people a long time ago, and he advises them to do the same.

Hated sends the blood pressure up. Quarreling gives you a sick feeling in the pit of the stomach. When you're angry, you merely make a spectacle of yourself. . . That's what he says, and you know he is right. You can't live up to his ideas. You're not as wise as he is, nor as strong. . . But between your righteous anger and his you could be as sensible as he—though you know you never will be.

Roosevelt Hold Increases
Wall Street Nibblers
Bills That Are To Pass?

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Apr. 19.—Reports coming in to this writer from all parts of the United States indicate that the people as a whole believe the New Deal has not gone far enough—instead of too far.

That is contrary to the opinion voiced in powerful circles in the larger cities.

(But, of course, we may not all ways have a Roosevelt as president.)

MICE AT PLAY
It wasn't so much mice at play (in congress) during the president's absence as Wall Street nibblers.

Wall Street set out to wreck the entire presidential program.

In the senate banking committee, the bill for the regulation of stock exchanges had its teeth pulled.

And there was considerable underhand work to undermine other Rooseveltian policies.

Teeth pulled by a Republican Senator, Keane of New Jersey, who has been in the stock exchange business for years; Townsend of Delaware, Walcott of Connecticut, and Democratic William Gibbs McAdoo of California.

McAdoo has become the most powerful critic of the Roosevelt administration.

AL SMILES
There is one man in New York who is smiling to himself over Senator McAdoo's criticism of some of the Rooseveltian policies. That man is Alfred E. Smith.

Smith recalls how he thought he had made up with McAdoo at the 1932 Chicago convention—then saw McAdoo give the push to the Roosevelt bandwagon on that put it over.

Of course, Smith himself is not a great believer in the New Deal.

TO PASS?
The presidential program for legislation to be passed by congress is not so small as propaganda during Mr. Roosevelt's absence made it appear. Foremost, the president desires $1,500,000,000 additional for the distribution to be left in his hands.

New York hears that these measures (nearly all epoch-making) are scheduled:

Reciprocal tariff powers for the president; tax bill, with higher taxes for large incomes; stock market regulation bill, with "teeth"; bill to regulate commodity exchanges; bill to permit municipalities to compromise their debts, through agreement with a majority of their creditors; bill to extend temporary insurance of bank deposits; legislation for huge housing program; communications control bill and Senator Wagner's labor bill.

That would leave out such important measures as unemployment insurance, the Connery 30-hour week, the Tugwell flood and drug bill, and government payoff of depositors in closed banks, as well as the silver purchase bill.

The last two mentioned promise to cause considerable trouble to the president in the form of filibusters and outright insurrection.

BANK PAYOFF
The Roosevelt administration always has been opposed to payoff of depositors in closed banks.

The first column in America to make mention of payoffs was this one. This writer went to Washington the first month President Roosevelt was in office and ascertained then that the administration considered

PREFERENCE

They say that bachelors are free From cares that worry men like me; They're none to question where they've been

Or what they've done or what they've seen,

But likewise they have few who care Who light or heavy tasks they bear And whether joy or grief they own, At home they sit with it alone.

The bachelors may come and go, With none to say them "yes" or "no";

And walking in or strolling out They've but themselves to think about,

But likewise they have none who wait To welcome them with eyes elate And dance with joy to hear them tell

That everything with them is well.

We married men must oft forego Small pleasures we should like to know;

But many a man who wins a maid For his devotion is repaid With countless little tender deeds The male sex often sorely needs.

It truly can be said of men, They must be babied now and then.

The bachelors may say: "Pish! Pish! We do precisely as we wish." But still I think I'd rather be Part prisoner than wholly free, And have my lovely jester come When I am sick at heart and glum, Delighted at my side to sit And baby me a little bit.

The World At A Glance

Roosevelt Hold Increases
Wall Street Nibblers
Bills That Are To Pass?By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Apr. 19.—Reports coming in to this writer from all parts of the United States indicate that the people as a whole believe the New Deal has not gone far enough—instead of too far.

That is contrary to the opinion voiced in powerful circles in the larger cities.

A well-informed man, returning from the Pacific coast, says: "President Roosevelt is stronger than ever with the people in the west. People have much confidence in him. They would not care if he did away with congress altogether."
(But, of course, we may not always have a Roosevelt as president.)

MICE AT PLAY

It wasn't so much mice at play (in congress) during the president's absence as Wall Street nibblers. Wall Street set out to wreck the entire presidential program.

In the senate banking committee, the bill for the regulation of stock exchanges and its teeth pulled. And there was considerable underhand work to undermine other Rooseveltian policies.

Teeth pullers were Republican Senators Keane of New Jersey, who has been in the stock exchange business for years; Townsend of Delaware, Walcott of Connecticut, and Democratic William Gibbs McAdoo of California.

McAdoo has become the most powerful critic of the Roosevelt administration.

AL SMILES

There is one man in New York who is smiling to himself over Senator McAdoo's criticism of some of the Rooseveltian policies. That man is Alfred E. Smith. Smith recalls how he thought he had made up with McAdoo at the 1932 Chicago convention—then saw McAdoo give the push to the Roosevelt bandwagon that put it over.

Of course, Smith himself is not a great believer in the New Deal.

TO PASS?

The presidential program for legislation to be passed by congress is not so small as propaganda during Mr. Roosevelt's absence made it appear. Foremost, the president desires $1,500,000,000 additional for relief, the distribution to be left in his hands.

New York hears that these measures (nearly all epoch-making) are scheduled:

Reciprocal tariff powers for the president; tax bill, with higher taxes for large incomes; stock market regulation bill, with teeth; bill to regulate commodity exchanges; bill to permit municipal bonds to be sold without their debt through agreement with a majority of their creditors; bill to extend temporary insurance of bank deposits; legislation for huge housing program; communications control bill and Senator Wagner's labor bill.

That would leave out such important measures as unemployment insurance, the Connery 30-hour week, the Tugwell flood and drug bill, and government payoff of depositors in closed banks, as well as the silver purchase bill.

The last two mentioned promises to cause considerable trouble to the president in the form of filibusters and outright insurrection.

BANK PAYOFF

The Roosevelt administration always has been opposed to payoff of depositors in closed banks.

The first column in America to make mention of payoffs was this one. This writer went to Washington the first month President Roosevelt was in office and ascertained then that the administration considered the bank failures as "water over the dam."

That was the view brought to Washington from Wall Street by the then Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, and his group of advisers, all men with the Wall Street view.

Opponents of that view pointed out (1) that the government had urged people not to hoard but to put their money into banks, especially federal reserve banks; and (2) that the failure of these banks, in the majority of cases, was occasioned by the siphoning of funds from them by Wall Street.

At any rate, those who gambled right by putting their money into banks that did not fall escaped 100 per cent, while those who chose the wrong banks, through no fault of their own, lost everything.

Advocates of the payoff plan pointed out a year ago that billions of dollars cast here and there would not, in their opinion, stimulate recovery so much as a payoff to millions of savers, who would put money into circulation in thousands of channels and provide legitimate employment.

THURSDAY, APRIL 19

History Repeats! By a singular coincidence, April 19 is the anniversary of the first battle of the Revolution, the first bloodshed of the Civil War, the first conflict between U. S. and German forces in the World War! And the other major conflict of the U. S.—the war with Spain, was launched April 20!

History's Great Days: Wednesday, April 19, 1775—Major John Pitcair, 35, leading an advance detail of 800 British troops sent secretly from Boston in the night to seize military stores collected by colonists at Concord, had a surprise awaiting him at Lexington, a village six miles from Concord.

By the dawn's early light he saw 70 unwavering men commanded by Capt. Jonas Parker, drawn up in the town square to bar his way. He spurred his horse forward and shouted in a voice thick with Scotch burr:

"Disperse! disperse, you rebels! Down with your arms, and disperse!"

Parker and his company held their ground. Pitcair gave the order which had consequences so great that no one in either England or America suspected them at the time. British rifles spurted flame which killed eight good men of Massachusetts, wounded others and dispersed the rest.

The king's horses and the king's men marched on to Concord. The shots fired at Lexington were not heard around the world, as the

West Pittsburgh

BROWN'S CAT IS FOUND

In the spring a young man's fancy and all that sort of jolly old treacle now includes the cat family. It seems that the little fellow with the bow and arrow has gone beyond the human race and included the animal kingdom, all of which explains the mysterious disappearance of a cat owned by Mrs. V. M. Brown of West Pittsburgh.

The cat was as much a part of the family fixtures as the pictures on the wall. A quiet home loving cat it was, never straying far from the family yard and certainly not going out nights.

Then came the dawn of the day when the cat disappeared. West Pittsburgh was combed much finer than a fine tooth comb could have done but no cat, that is no Brown cat.

After three days of suspense, anxiety and fear that the cat had lost all of its nine lives at once, it was found living in the old abandoned hotel in West Pittsburgh—with another cat.

And the Browns don't know whether to take the cat back home or buy the old hotel.

BROWN'S CAT IS FOUND

In the spring a young man's fancy and all that sort of jolly old treacle now includes the cat family. It seems that the little fellow with the bow and arrow has gone beyond the human race and included the animal kingdom, all of which explains the mysterious disappearance of a cat owned by Mrs. V. M. Brown of West Pittsburg.

The cat was as much a part of the family fixtures as the chairs on the wall. A quiet home loving cat it was, never straying far from the family yard and certainly not going out nights.

Then came the dawn—of the day when the cat disappeared. West Pittsburg was combed much finer than a fine tooth comb could have done but no cat, that is no Brown cat.

After three days of suspense, anxiety and fear that the cat had lost all of its nine lives at once, it was found living in the old abandoned hotel in West Pittsburg—with another cat.

And the Browns don't know whether to take the cat back home or buy the old hotel.

Music Week Is To Be Observed

Westminster College To Have Notable Program May 6 To 11

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 19.—Music week will be observed at Westminster College from May 6 to May 11. Alan B. Davis, director of the conservatory, announced. A feature of the week will be the appearance of Harold Bauer, world famous pianist.

On Sunday, May 6, a cantata, "Behold the Christ," will be presented by the cappella choir of the college in the chapel at 7:45. The cantata story is by Mrs. Lillian C. Nevins, mother of Professor Gordon Balch Nevins of the conservatory faculty. The music for the cantata is by the late Dr. George B. Nevins and Gordon Balch Nevins, his son.

After Mrs. Nevins had finished writing the story, her husband, Dr. George B. Nevins, began the composition of the musical setting, but was forced by illness to leave the work unfinished. Following the death of his father, Professor Gordon Balch Nevins completed the music for the work. The cantata will be directed by Professor Davis.

A mixed recital given by students of the conservatory will be presented on Monday evening, May 7, in the chapel. Vocal, piano, and pipe organ numbers will feature this recital.

The college orchestra, directed by Professor Donald O. Cameron, will present a concert in the chapel on Tuesday, May 8. Concert orchestra numbers and instrumental solos will be included on this program.

A concert by the women's glee club will be given on Wednesday evening, May 9, under the direction of Miss Ada Peabody. Choral numbers, special numbers by the octette, and solo numbers will feature.

On Thursday, May 10, the cappella choir, directed by Professor Alan B. Davis, will present a concert which will include both choral and solo numbers.

As a climax to the music week, Harold Bauer, world famous pianist, will give a recital in the chapel on Friday evening, May 11.

In addition to these events of music week, there will be an organ recital by Professor Gordon Balch Nevins on May 15 in the college chapel. This will be the fourth and last of a series by Professor Nevins, including several works which he arranged for the organ.

The college band, under the direction of Professor Donald O. Cameron, will present a concert on the evening of May 21. Student recitals are also being held on the afternoons of April 24, and May 15 in the conservatory.

Circulation Loss Noted At Library

A decrease of 25 percent in circulation of books is noted in the New Castle free public library's report for the month of March as compared to the same month of 1933, the adult loss being 25 percent and the juvenile 28 percent. All agencies lost as follows: main library 31 percent, Mahoningtown 20 percent, South Side 7 percent and East Side 26 percent. Increased employment and the ruling which prevents more than three books going out on one borrower's card are probably responsible for the loss.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., April 18, ten arrests on charges as follows: Violation of parking law 8, and drunkenness 2.

D. O. Davies, safety director in charge of health, speaking: "Businessmen who hire irresponsible and unlicensed rubbish haulers to dispose of their rubbish and garbage will be fined should the rubbish or garbage be disposed of on private ground." Davies said waste material should be taken to the city dumps and the garbage to the garbage furnace. He intends to have an inspection made of all rubbish or garbage found disposed of on private property. If the inspector finds a name on a bottle, package or can, the person who hires the irresponsible party will have to face prosecution, according to Davies. Rubbish haulers must pay 25 cents for a license, the safety director added.

And with that off his chest the safety director unburdened himself of another thought, it being in regard to sidewalks. He said that the city has been lenient with property owners who have bad sidewalks but the time has arrived when property owners should repair them as "the city is tired of sidewalk lawsuits." He said there are persons here in a position to repair their sidewalks who have failed to do so. The city can order and have repairs made and file the cost against the property. It would not be surprising were the members of the police department, Inspector Henry Dysart and Inspector Lou Mosely, ordered to make a report of all sidewalks that need repair to the city officials.

WARM WEATHER WARNING

CHANGE THAT WINTER-WORN OIL!

WINTER-WORN OIL takes the pep out of a car. Makes it sluggish and slow. Takes a lot of the fun out of Spring driving.

That's why we say, "Get rid of Winter-worn oil! Change to Summer Mobiloil!"

Modern engines are twice as dependent on fine oil as the engines of several years ago. It's more important to get Winter oil out—and get in a clean supply of oil that can "take" extra punishment. Mobiloil has become the world's largest selling motor oil because it stands up better under extreme heat. It stays tough when spread in a thinner film.

So drain off that Winter-worn oil today. Stop at any Mobiloil sign. Get the right grade of Mobiloil for Summer driving.

And if you stop at a station with the sign of the Red Horse, you can also get Mobilgas, the all-weather gasoline. Try both—for completely satisfying car performance.

CALLING ALL CARS! While you're changing Winter oil, do a complete job—chassis, transmission and differential. Stop at any Mobilgas station.

Register and Recorder William R. Hanna reports that farm crop loan mortgages are now being recorded at the court house, three of them coming in yesterday. These loans were granted through the Butler Production Credit Association. One was for $180, and two for $200 each. Loans are also granted through the Emergency Crop Loan office in New Castle, through Alderman L. C. Mantz. Alderman Mantz has already had a number of applications which are in the process of adjustment. The loans are designed to furnish farmers with funds to buy seed and put in their crops. The maximum amount of an emergency crop loan is $250, and the minimum, $25. The mortgages, when given, are recorded at the register and recorder's office, the same as a mortgage on real estate.

One of the first cases for trial at common pleas court which convenes next week is that of Martha D. Trimble against the Mennel Milling Company of Toledo, O. At a former session Mrs. Trimble was awarded a verdict for $13,750 for the death of her husband, John M. Trimble in an automobile accident. The defense made an application for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was excessive and that errors had occurred in the trial of the case. Judge Hildebrand granted the new trial which comes up next week.

The accident happened on Jan. 28, 1930. John M. Trimble with his son, Kenneth Trimble were coming from Meadville to New Castle. It had been raining, and Kenneth was driving. Near Adamsville a car belonging to the Mennel Milling Company collided with the Trimble car. It was claimed that the milling company car was across the center of the road. John M. Trimble was injured, but recovered sufficiently to go to work, but still complained of pains about the ribs. He grew worse, and died on November 14th, 1930.

At the first trial it was contended by the plaintiff that death was the result of injuries sustained in the auto accident. The defense claimed that Trimble had hardening of the arteries, a slight heart tremor, and that his death was due, not to the accident, but to coronary thrombosis. At the trial hypothetical questions were asked physicians testifying for the defense, who were inclined to the opinion that death had been caused by coronary thrombosis. In his opinion granting a new trial Judge Hildebrand found that it was an error to permit witnesses to answer the hypothetical questions, as they had been answered.

H. E. Close, state highway engineer with headquarters at Pittsburgh, was here yesterday and in company with the county commissioners went over a section of the New Castle-New Bedford road, which it is proposed to concrete. The section begins at the city line and extends west to the point near the Bell Telephone transformer station. Work of laying storm sewers, has about been completed by the county commissioners, and the road has been closed preparatory to tearing up the old macadam. Very little change will be made in the grade of the road, but the driveway will be widened.

George M. and Ella E. Haggerty have filed an amicable action in ejectment at the prothonotary's office against C. Robson and Elizabeth Khalley, to secure possession of a sixty acre farm located in Little Beaver township. The farm was sold to the defendant on an article of agreement for $2,375 in December, 1932, and it is claimed that the payments have been kept up according to the article of agreement.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey of Johnstown, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, visited officials at the court house yesterday. Going into the sheriff's office he glanced at the Bulletin board on which the sheriff posts the pictures and descriptions of persons wanted for various crimes. "Well, I don't see my picture up there," he remarked. Assured that it was not, Eddie shook hands with the sheriff, and presented him with a bale of circulars containing life sized pictures of himself and the story of his life.

Of the total library borrowers, 8,778 are adults and 5,523 are children.

Music Week Is To Be Observed

Westminster College To Have Notable Program May 6 To 11

(Special To The News)
NEW WILLIAMSTON, Pa., April 19.—Music week will be observed at Westminster College from May 6 to May 11, Alan B. Davis, director of the conservatory, announces. A feature of the week will be the appearance of Harold Bauer, world famous pianist.

On Sunday, May 6, a cantata, "Behold the Christ," will be presented by the cantata choir of the college in the chapel at 7:45. The cantata story is by Mrs. Lillian C. Nevin, mother of Professor Gordon Balch Nevin of the conservatory faculty. The music for the cantata is by the late Dr. George B. Nevin and Gordon Balch Nevin, his son.

After Mrs. Nevin had finished writing the story, her husband, Dr. George B. Nevin, began the composition of the musical setting, but was forced by illness to leave the work unfinished. Following the death of his father, Professor Gordon Balch Nevin completed the music for the work. The cantata will be directed by Professor Davis.

A mixed recital given by students of the conservatory will be presented on Monday evening, May 7, in the chapel. Vocal, piano, and pipe organ numbers will feature this recital.

The college orchestra, directed by Professor Donald O. Cameron, will present a concert in the chapel on Tuesday, May 8. Concert orchestra numbers and instrumental solos will be included in this program.

A concert by the women's glee club will be given on Wednesday evening, May 9, under the direction of Miss Ada Peabody. Choral numbers, special numbers by the octette, and solo numbers will feature.

On Thursday, May 10, the a cappella choir, directed by Professor Alan B. Davis, will present a concert which will include both choral and solo numbers.

As a climax to the music week, Harold Bauer, world famous pianist, will give a recital in the chapel on Friday evening, May 11.

In addition to these events of music week, there will be an organ recital by Professor Gordon Balch Nevin on May 15 in the college chapel. This will be the fourth and last of a series by Professor Nevin including some works which he arranged for the organ.

The college band, under the direction of Professor Donald O. Cameron, will present a concert on the evening of May 21. Student recitals are also being held on the afternoons of April 24, and May 15 in the conservatory.

Circulation Loss Noted At Library

A decrease of 25 percent in circulation of books is noted in the New Castle free public library's report for the month of March as compared to the same month of 1933, the adult loss being 23 percent and the juvenile 28 percent. All agencies lost as follows: main library 31 percent, Mahoningtown 20 percent, South Side 7 percent and East Side 26 percent. Increased employment and the ruling which prevents more than three books going out on one borrower's card are probably responsible for the loss.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., April 18, ten arrests on charges as follows: Violation of parking law 6, and drunkenness 2.

D. O. Davies, safety director in charge of health, speaking: "Businessmen who hire irresponsible and unlicensed rubbish haulers to dispose of their rubbish and garbage will be fined should the rubbish or garbage be disposed of on private ground." Davies said waste material should be taken to the city dumps and the garbage to the garbage furnace. He intends to have an inspection made of all rubbish or garbage found disposed of on private property. If the inspector finds a name on a bottle, package or can, the person who hires the irresponsible party will have to face prosecution, according to Davies. Rubbish haulers must pay 25 cents for a license, the safety director added.

And with that off his chest the safety director unburdened himself of another thought, it being in regard to sidewalks. He said that the city has been lenient with property owners who have bad sidewalks but the time has arrived when property owners should repair them as "the city is tired of sidewalk lawsuits." He said there are persons here in a position to repair their sidewalks who have failed to do so. The city can order and have repairs made and file the cost against the property. It would not be surprising were the members of the police department, Inspector Henry Dysart and Inspector Lou Mosely, ordered to make a report of all sidewalks that need repair to the city officials.

Observations: An auto parked in the wrong direction and against a fire department hydrant at North and North Mercer streets. . . . Auto which failed to obey the stop sign at Moody and Delaware avenue.

Lower portion of councilman Hoyland's office windows painted black. . . . John Williams preparing a city map which shows in colors whether the thoroughfares are paved or unpaved. . . . Ditch stone-walled at North Mercer and Fairmont avenue. . . . Harry Hoskins and Carmi Glover taking a spin in the new street department auto. . . . Appears as though Davies now on the city payroll will resign soon. . . . D. O. Davies observing the old fire station, East street, to be remodeled soon for police garage purposes.

First circus of the year will show on the Rosena site in May according to Mayor Charles Mayne. A permit was granted yesterday.

WARM WEATHER WARNING — CHANGE THAT WINTER-WORN OIL!

WINTER-WORN OIL takes the pep out of a car. Makes it sluggish and slow. Takes a lot of the fun out of Spring driving.

That's why we say, "Get rid of Winter-worn oil! Change to Summer Mobiloil!"

Modern engines are twice as dependent on fine oil as the engines of several years ago. It's more important to get Winter oil out — and get in a clean supply of oil that can "take" extra punishment. Mobiloil has become the world's largest selling motor oil because it stands up better under extreme heat. It stays tough when spread in a thinner film.

So drain off that Winter-worn oil today. Stop at any Mobiloil sign. Get the right grade of Mobiloil for Summer driving.

Register and Recorder William R. Hanna reports that farm crop loan mortgages are now being recorded at the court house, three of them coming in yesterday. These loans were granted through the Butler Production Credit Association. One was for $180, and two for $200 each. Loans are also granted through the Emergency Crop Loan office in New Castle, through Alderman L. C. Mantz. Alderman Mantz has already had a number of applications which are in the process of adjustment. The loans are designed to furnish farmers with funds to buy seed and put in their crops. The maximum amount of an emergency crop loan is $250, and the minimum, $25. The mortgages, when given, are recorded at the register and recorder's office, the same as a mortgage on real estate.

One of the first cases for trial at common pleas court which convenes next week is that of Martha D. Trimble against the Mennel Milling Company of Toledo, O. At a former session Mrs. Trimble was awarded a verdict for $13,750 for the death of her husband, John M. Trimble in an automobile accident. The defense made an application for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was excessive and that errors had occurred in the trial of the case. Judge Hildebrand granted the new trial which comes up next week.

The accident happened on Jan. 26, 1930. John M. Trimble with his son, Kenneth Trimble were coming from Meadville to New Castle. It had been raining, and Kenneth was driving. Near Adamsville a car belonging to the Mennel Milling Company collided with the Trimble car. It was claimed that the milling company car was across the center of the road. John M. Trimble was injured but recovered sufficiently to go to work, but still complained of pains about the ribs. He grew worse, and died on November 14th, 1930.

At the first trial it was contended by the plaintiff that death was the result of injuries sustained in the auto accident. The defense claimed that Trimble had hardening of the arteries, a slight heart tremor, and that his death was due, not to the accident, but to coronary thrombosis. At the trial hypothetical questions were asked physicians testifying for the defense, who were inclined to the opinion that death had been caused by coronary thrombosis. In his opinion granting a new trial Judge Hildebrand found that it was an error to permit witnesses to answer the hypothetical questions, as they had been answered.

H. E. Close, state highway engineer with headquarters at Pittsburgh, was here yesterday and in company with the county commissioners went over a section of the New Castle-New Bedford road, which it is proposed to concrete. The section begins at the city line and extends west to the point near the Bell Telephone transformer station. Work of laying storm sewers, has about been completed by the county commissioners, and the road has been closed preparatory to tearing up the old macadam. Very little change will be made in the grade of the road, but the driveway will be widened.

George M. and Ella E. Haggerty have filed an amicable action in ejectment at the probate court's office against C. Robson and Elizabeth Knalkey, to secure possession of a sixty acre farm located in Little Beaver township. The farm was sold to the defendant on an article of agreement for $3,375 in December, 1932, and it is claimed that the payments have been kept up according to the article of agreement.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey of Johnstown, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, visited officials at the court house yesterday. Going in to the sheriff's office he glanced at the Bulletin board on which the sheriff posts the pictures and descriptions of persons wanted for various crimes. "Well, I don't see my picture up there" he remarked. Assured that it was not, Eddie shook hands with the sheriff, and presented him with a bale of circulars containing life sized pictures of himself and the story of his life.

Bass Drum Needed By Thieving Gang

Have Looted School Houses In Western Pennsylvania And Eastern Ohio

MERCER, Pa., April 19.—Police are watching all school houses which are the homes of bass drums. Every necessary instrument to a well balanced band has been stolen in the last three weeks from eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania schools excepting this necessary instrument. The thieving seems to be the work of a well organized band who are turning the instruments stolen from schools into cash through a fence thought to be in Ohio.

Two Youngstown schools, two in Warren, Niles, Sharpsville, New Castle, Farrell and two in Sharon have all been entered, presumably by the same gang.

A ten year old son, Jack Gordon Heath was awarded to Mrs. Heath in the Lawrence county courts, but Heath avers that he is no longer permitted to visit the child, according to the court orders.

Mrs. Heath asserts that her older son is difficult to manage after visiting his father.

Disclosure that Dr. May and Mrs.

It was reported that an inspection of hospital records in St. Paul by federal investigators gave clues which resulted in the arrest of Dr. May and Mrs. La Delle.

Painful Piles
Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

If you think an operation is always the only way to escape the misery of suffering piles, it is because you haven't heard of Hem-Roid the harmless internal medicine discovered by a western physician.

After years of study Dr. J. S. Leonard was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal vessels filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID.

Pile sufferers everywhere are benefiting by Dr. Leonard's discovery so why doubt or delay longer when Boker's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. And all druggists say "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe and easy way to get rid of your pile misery or money-back."

La Delle were in custody revealed for the first time that Dillinger had been wounded during his escape from an apartment house three weeks ago. It was known that one of the members of the gang which escaped the apartment had been shot, but it was not known until today that it was Dillinger.

It was reported that an inspection of hospital records in St. Paul by federal investigators gave clues which resulted in the arrest of Dr. May and Mrs. La Delle.

Bass Drum Needed By Thieving Gang

Have Looted School Houses In Western Pennsylvania And Eastern Ohio

MERCER, Pa., April 19.—Police are watching all school houses which are the homes of bass drums. Every necessary instrument to a well balanced band has been stolen in the last three weeks from eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania schools excepting this necessary instrument. The thieving seems to be the work of a well organized band who are turning the instruments stolen that would be valued over $1000 in Mercer county into cash through a fence thought to be in Ohio.

Two Youngstown schools, two in Warren, Niles, Sharpsville, New Castle, Farrell and two in Sharon have all been entered, presumably by the same gang.

Says Court Order Here Not Obeyed

BEAVER, Pa., April 19.—Frank Gordon, Beaver Falls and his wife, Sylvia L. Heath aired their differences before Judge William A. McConnell at Beaver today in a habeas corpus hearing for the custody of their five year old son Howard Wilmer Heath.

A ten year old son, Jack Gordon Heath was awarded to Mrs. Heath in the Lawrence county courts, but Heath avers that he is no longer permitted to visit the child, according to the court orders.

Mrs. Heath asserts that her older son is difficult to manage after visiting his father.

Judge McConnell will make an order for the custody and as to visiting privileges of the father later today.

Grade School Harmonica Players Await Contest

Many elementary school harmonica players are waiting hopefully for tomorrow night's contest which begins at eight p. m. in the Lincoln-Garfield auditorium according to C. F. Christopher who is directing the contest.

Admission will be free to the general public.

From each school's contestants, one boy and one girl will be selected by three judges to represent their school in the final contest. Every school has at least a few pupils who play the mouth organ and these should enter the contest and try to win the city championship for their school as well as for themselves.

In other cities such contests have been immensely popular. Here in New Castle children and teachers are beginning to realize the real worth of the harmonica. In several schools there are active harmonica organizations directed by interested teachers who give time after school hours so that children may develop a love for music as well as an ability that will prove valuable.

Children who are entering the contest should practice with the aim of rendering the tune they select accurately. All contestants must furnish their own instrument which must be in the key of C and present them-

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Suffering

If you think an operation is always the only way to escape the misery of torturing piles, it's because you haven't heard of Hem-Roid the harmless internal medicine discovered by a western physician.

After years of study Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID.

Pile sufferers everywhere are benefiting by Dr. Leonhardt's discovery, so why doubt or delay longer when Eckerd's Cut Rate and New Castle Drug Co. and all druggists say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your pile misery or money-back."

Kiwanis Program Honors Dr. Lutz

Scouting Lands Him For Saving Girl's Life; Affair Is Surprise

COURT OF HONOR
MAKES HIGH AWARD

Before the Kiwanis club and its special guests in The Castleton ballroom Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Raymond C. Lutz, was publicly honored for the "manliness, efficiency, quick thought and heroism" he displayed when he rescued a girl from drowning in the swollen waters of Slippery Rock creek on June 8, 1933. He got scouting's highest citation. The surprise recognition, and it was exactly that for Dr. Lutz, took place before a special sitting of the Lawrence County Boy Scout council's highest tribunal, the court of honor. High court officers officiated. The colorful award ceremony comprised the entire program for the weekly meeting of the club.

To the martial strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" two Eagle Scouts, Howell Williams and James Graven-strecker, both of Kiwanis Troop 37, advanced into the ballroom from the lobby bearing an American flag and the official flag of their troop. Their entry was heralded by Hans N. Drilo, chairman of Kiwanis' scout troop committee, the chairman of arrangements for the day.

Before the uniformed youths entered, the Boy Scout court officers, President L. B. Round, Vice President Dr. G. S. Bennett, Court Chairman Rev. A. M. Stump and Commissioner Ralph S. Davis, assumed their chairs on a raised platform to the side, awaiting what applications there were to the court. In scouting one tradition is observed, award recipients must receive the honors in the court's presence. And it was Dr. Lutz who was summoned before the bar this time. Eagle Scout Williams, erect and soldierly, informed the court that it was the desire of the group to award one in the audience for significant service.

Brief explanatory speeches by Rev. Stump came at intervals during the short exercises, while Commissioner Davis told the club of Dr. Lutz' association with scouting. He said he has been associated with "Troop 37" for four years, and now is its scoutmaster. He has served as district commissioner and in other posts as well.

Once Dr. Lutz was before the tribunal Dr. G. S. Bennett, last year's court chairman and now the court's vice president, presented "with much pleasure" the certificate of award to Dr. Lutz. It was he who first revealed the act of heroism which resulted in the recognition. Council President Round then presented him with a lapel button which also symbolized his meritorious service.

Dr. Lutz, responding quietly to the court's presentations, said "most any man would have done the same thing under the same conditions. I can't see any great heroism to that." He was loudly applauded when he concluded.

The near-drowning incident occurred at a picnic along the Slippery Rock creek last June, when high waters almost snuffed out the life of Marjorie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Thomas. Mr. Thomas is a former Kiwanian.

The framed recognition award, carrying the personal signature of Daniel Carter Beard, founder of scouting, is one of two which have been presented here. The first was received by Edward C. Raney, teacher at Sharon High.

A number of Dr. Lutz' friends, not Kiwanians, saw him honored yesterday. Dr. Lutz, a Rotarian, needs but one more merit badge to qualify him as an Eagle scout.

In a business meeting which preceded the ceremony the club elected President J. D. Beebe and Secretary L. C. Mantz as delegates to the Kiwanis International convention at Toronto, Ont., on June 10 to 14. Alternates named were Sam Lewis and Norman E. Clark.

Kiwanis Program Honors Dr. Lutz

Saving Girl's Life; Af-

COURT OF HONOR MAKES HIGH AWARD

Before the Kiwanis club and its special guests in The Castle ballroom Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Raymond C. Lutz, was publicly honored for the "manliness, efficiency, quick thought and heroism" he displayed when he rescued a girl from drowning in the swollen waters of Slippery Rock creek on June 8, 1933. He got scouting's highest citation. The surprise recognition and it was exactly that for Dr. Lutz, took place before a special sitting of the Lawrence County Boy Scout council's highest tribunal, the court of honor. High court officers officiated.

The colorful award ceremony comprised the entire program for the weekly meeting of the club.

To the martial strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" two Eagle Scouts, Howell Williams and James Gravenstreeter, both of Kiwanis Troop 37, advanced into the ballroom from the lobby bearing an American flag and the Kiwanis flag of court honor. Their entry was headed by Hona N. Dris, chairman of Kiwanis' scout committee, the chairman of arrangements for the day.

Before the uniformed youths entered, the Boy Scout court officers, President L. B. Round, Vice President Dr. G. S. Bennett, Court Master Rev. A. M. Stump and Commissioner Ralph S. Davis, assumed their chairs on a raised platform to the side, awaiting what applications there were to be heard.

In scouting one tradition is observed, award recipients must receive the honors in the court's presence. And it was Dr. Lutz who was summoned before the bar this time. Eagle Scout Williams, erect and soldierly, informed the court that it was the desire of the group to award one in the audience for significant service.

Brief explanatory speeches by Rev. Stump came at intervals during the short exercises while Commissioner Davis told the club of Dr. Lutz' association with scouting. He said he has been associated with Troop 37 for four years, and now is its scoutmaster. He has served as district commissioner and in other posts as well.

Once Dr. Lutz was before the tribunal Dr. G. S. Bennett, last year's court chairman and now the council's vice president, presented "with much pleasure" the certificate of award to Dr. Lutz. It was he who first revealed the act of heroism which resulted in the recognition.

Council President Round then presented him with a lapel button which also symbolized his meritorious service.

Dr. Lutz, responding quietly to the court's presentations, said "most any man would have done the same thing under the same conditions." He was loudly applauded when he concluded.

The near-drowning incident occurred at a picnic along the Slippery Rock creek last June, when high waters almost snuffed out the life of Marie, Thomas' daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Thomas. Mr. Thomas is a former Kiwanian.

The framed recognition award, carrying the personal signature of Daniel Carter Beard, founder of scouting, is one of two which have been presented here. The first was received by Edward G. Raney, teacher at Shenango High.

A number of Dr. Lutz' friends, not Kiwanians, saw him honored yesterday. Dr. Lutz, a Rotarian, needs but one more merit badge to qualify him as an Eagle scout.

In a business meeting which preceded the ceremony the club elected President J. D. Reebel and Secretary L. C. Mantz as delegates to the Kiwanis International convention at Toronto, Ont., on June 10 to 14. Alternates named were Sam Lewis and Norman E. Clark.

The altar used in these programs is furnished by the County Pomona Grange and is to be awarded to the Grange that has the highest percentage of its officers present at their regular meetings during the year.

Denies Firing Of Fatal Shot

Paul Harden, 25, Of Wall, Pa., Denies Killing Of Constable Pluter

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 19.—Arrested as the suspected "trigger man" in the slaying of constable Martin Pluter, Paul Harden, 25, of Wall today denied having fired the shot today and said John Ardenas, son of a former constable, was responsible, detectives revealed.

Harden had been sought since Tuesday when detectives learned his identity. He was arrested in the home of his sister in Duquesne, a suburb.

Saw Shot Fired
Taken before assistant county detective Chief James S. McGinley, Harden denied the shooting. He said however:

"I was an eye witness to his death. Constable Pluter was shot by John Ardenas. I saw him pull the trigger of a nickel plated revolver and then the constable rolled over dead."

Ardenas continued to maintain his innocence when brought into the county detective bureau and told Harden repeat his story. He said he could not remember any details regarding the Monday night fight which authorities say preceded the slaying.

Three others, Mike Petrovich, Zeke Zikovich and Andrew Pelnicis, are also being held in the case as suspected witnesses.

Six Offer Lives To Help Science

(International News Service)
BERKELEY, Cal., April 19.—Offers of five men and a woman to sacrifice their lives in scientific experiments were declined today by Dr. Cornish, University of California research biologist and inventor of a "life restoring machine."

Dr. Cornish withheld names of the writers but revealed contents of the letters.

A pathetic letter from Wilcox, Ariz., written by a 42-year-old father of five children, read: "Three years ago I contracted an incurable ailment. Now I want to see if I can't sell my body to experiment with. I am perfectly willing to sacrifice myself in any way if it will enable me to leave my wife and children something to live on."

"You could give me any disease you care to, or kill me and try to restore me to life or make any other experiment you wish. In other words, I would put myself at your disposal the same as a dog."

In several experiments with dead dogs, Dr. Cornish and his aides have temporarily restored life to the animals by means of powerful heart stimulants and resuscitation methods on a leather-board machine.

A Long Beach, Cal., man of 32 wrote: "If you want to try your revivification experiment on me, I will do a suicide in any desirable way (not too painful). I am single, have no dependents."

A 24 year old youth of Snoqualmie, Wis., offered his life because "I am just one of thousands who have failed to find any place in the world and I must be assured my mother, 67, will be cared for the rest of her life."

Denies Firing Of Fatal Shot

Paul Harden, 25, Of Wall, Pa., Denies Killing Of Constable Pluter

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 18.—Arrested as the suspected "trigger man" in the slaying of constable Martin Pluter, Paul Harden, 25, of Wall, Pa., denied having fired the shot today and said John Arendas, son of a former constable, was responsible, detectives revealed.

Harden had been sought since Tuesday when detectives learned his identity. He was arrested in the home of his sister in Duquesne, a suburb.

Saw Shot Fired. Taken before assistant county detective Chief James E. McGinley, Harden denied the shooting. He said, however:

"I was an eye witness to his death. Constable Pluter was shot by John Arendas. I saw him pull the trigger of a nickel plated revolver and then the constable rolled over dead."

Arendas continued to maintain his innocence when brought into the county detention bureau and heard Harden repeat his story. He said he could not remember any details regarding the Monday night fight which authorities say preceded the slaying.

Three others, Mike Petrovich, Zeke Zikovich and Andrew Pelnic, are also being held in the case as suspected witnesses.

Denies Firing Of Fatal Shot

Paul Harden, 25, Of Wall, Pa., Denies Killing Of Constable Pluter

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 19.—Arrested as the suspected "trigger man" in the slaying of constable Martin Pluter, Paul Harden, 25, of Wall, Pa., denied having fired the shot today and said John Ardenas, son of a former constable, was responsible, detectives revealed.

Harden had been sought since Tuesday when detectives learned his identity. He was arrested in the home of his sister in Duquesne, a suburb.

Saw Shot Fired

Taken before assistant county detective Chief James S. McGinley, Harden denied the shooting. He said however:

"I was an eye witness to his death. Constable Pluter was shot by John Ardenas. I saw him pull the trigger of a nickel plated revolver and then the constable rolled over dead."

Ardenas continued to maintain his innocence when brought into the county detective bureau and heard Harden repeat his story. He said he could not remember any details regarding the Monday night fight which authorities say preceded the slaying.

Three others, Mike Petrovich, Zeke Zikovich and Andrew Pelnicis, are also being held in the case as suspected witnesses.

Six Offer Lives To Help Science

(International News Service) BERKELEY, Cal., Apr. 19.—Offers of five men and a woman to sacrifice their lives in scientific experiments were declined today by Dr. Cornish, University of California research biologist and inventor of a "life restoring machine."

Dr. Cornish withheld names of the writers but revealed contents of the letters.

incurable ailment. Now I want to see if I can't sell my body to experiment with. I am perfectly willing to sacrifice myself in any way if it will enable me to leave my wife and children something to live on.

In several experiments with dead dogs, Dr. Cornish and his aides have temporarily restored life to the animals by means of powerful heart stimulants and resuscitation methods on a teeter-board machine.

A Long Beach, Cal., man of 32 wrote: "If you want to try your resuscitation experiment on me, I will do a suicide in any desirable way (not too painful). I am single, have no dependents."

U. S. RELATIONS WITH SOVIET ARE STRAINED

Debt Question Is Not Settled

Russia Seems Reluctant To Carry On Negotiations As Promised

ABRUPT ABOUT-FACE IS DONE BY RUSSIA

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Apr. 19.—Friendly relations between the United States and Soviet Russia, established less than six months ago, are in serious danger of becoming strained as the result of an abrupt about-face by Moscow on the question of meeting American debt and damage claims.

This was learned from an unimpeachable source today as American officials ponder the question of what effect a sudden cooling off in cordiality towards Soviet Russia would have on public opinion in this country.

Moscow Reluctant

Moscow's reluctance to meet the American debt and damage claims after Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, had given assurances it would be prepared to do so, is responsible for the development of a situation which threatens the future relations of the two countries.

The feeling prevails in high official circles that the Soviets have failed to live up to promises made during Litvinoff's visit here last November when recognition was granted them.

Furthermore, the manner in which the Soviets have acted has led to suspicions that Moscow may not have given serious heed to the promises it was making in its haste to obtain American recognition at a time when a conflict with Japan appeared imminent.

Litvinoff, it was said, on high authority, gave a definite impression that the Soviets would be prepared to meet the American debt and damage claims and also gave assurances that they were prepared to negotiate a quick settlement of them.

Debt Issue Crisis

Furthermore, it was made perfectly clear to Litvinoff during his visit that this government would grant no credits to finance the development of trade with Russia until the debt issue was settled satisfactorily. Litvinoff gave the impression he understood this position of the American government.

In order to make it perfectly clear this government had no intention of granting any credits until the debt and damage claim issue was settled. The trustees of the new export-import bank for Russia passed a resolution to this effect.

The Soviets then professed surprise that the debt issue was being linked with the question of trade development.

As a result of this train of events, the view is being put forward in authoritative quarters that Russia's rapid industrial development probably would have prevented any great expansion of trade with this country in any event and that the Soviets' actions necessitate a less friendly attitude on the part of this government, the country doesn't stand to lose much.

San Francisco Quake Occurred 28 Years Ago

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—Twenty-eight years ago Wednesday two earth shocks rocked a terrified San Francisco at 5:45 o'clock in the morning. Gas mains burst. Oil lamps overturned in shattered homes. A disastrous fire swept the city wiping out block after block of business houses and residences.

The story of the earthquake and fire was being told again today by San Francisco pioneers who peacefully wended their way to work to towering downtown skyscrapers which arose upon the shattered ruins of 1906.

The San Francisco Press club annually celebrates the great fire, but on no fixed date in recent years.

In Battle Over Title To A Car

Purchase Under Financing Plan Is Sale And Not Bailment Lease, Is Argued

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 19.—Purchase of an automobile under a manufacturer's financing plan is a sale and not a bailment lease, counsel for Mary E. Gillilan, New Castle, had argued before the superior court today in holding his client's right to attach the car of Ralph Hartman, New Castle oil firm employee.

When the appellant creditor levied on the car Hartman had purchased from the Rogers Motor Co., the General Motors Acceptance Corporation brought suit to retain title to the car on the grounds it held a bailment lease from the local sales unit.

Judgment was entered in favor of the financing company in Lawrence county common pleas court after a directed verdict had been returned in favor of the appellant. Mary Gillilan then appealed alleging the bailment claim was a "screen, a sham and a subterfuge" put forth by the financing company.

Spring Vaccination Best For Children

Parents are reminded that the law of Pennsylvania requires all children to be successfully vaccinated in order to be admitted to school. The children expecting to enter school this fall should be vaccinated now as the reaction will be less troublesome before the coming of hot weather officials say.

Owing to the compulsory vaccination law, there were only ten cases of smallpox in the state of Pennsylvania last year and all of these came from other states.

Bandits Hunted At Weston, Mass.

Gang Of Six Bandits Engage In Gun Duel With Motorcycle Officer; Two Wounded

ONE IS BELIEVED TO BE DILLINGER

(International News Service)
WESTON, Mass., April 19.—Search throughout Massachusetts was launched today by state police for an automobile bearing Illinois and New registration plates, carrying six men, one believed to be John Dillinger, notorious mid-western bandit, following a gun duel here between them and a lone policeman.

Three of the men were believed to have been shot by motorcycle patrolman Arthur Raynor, who fired a total of 17 shots at the bandits and dodged a barrage of machine gun fire in return.

One of the men was handcuffed, according to Patrolman Raynor. He saw them as the automobile raced by him travelling at nearly a mile a minute clip.

He pursued the car on his motorcycle and caught up with it. The driver attempted to run over the patrolman, forcing him into a ditch and throwing him from his motorcycle. Uninjured, Raynor drew his service pistol and fired four shots after the car. The automobile stopped and two men got out and levelled a machine gun at him.

As the men opened fire patrolman leaped behind a tree and fired 13 more shots, reloading his pistol three times. The two men fell, Raynor reported.

Bloodstains were found on the ground where the man had stood after their companions picked them up.

Claim Dillinger Was Present At Family Reunion

John W. Dillinger Says Convict Son Attended Reunion At Mooresville, Ind.

(International News Service)
MOORESVILLE, Ind., April 19.—His hair dyed red as the only disguise, John Dillinger boldly attended a family reunion at the ancestral home here the weekend of April 7 and 8. It was admitted today by the desperado's father, John W. Dillinger.

While the fugitive killer and bank robber enjoyed his two day visit with relatives armed posses were searching Central Indiana for him. Authorities were confident he was not far away after Dillinger's automobile, purchased in St. Paul, Minn., a few days before, was wrecked twelve miles from Noblesville, Ind.

Neighbors of the Dillingers recognized the widely-sought gangster but did not notify authorities for fear of reprisals.

U.S. RELATIONS WITH SOVIET ARE STRAINED

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Apr. 19.—Friendly relations between the United States and Soviet Russia, established less than six months ago, are in serious danger of becoming strained as the result of an abrupt about-face by Moscow on the question of meeting American debt and damage claims.

This was learned from an unimpeachable source today as American officials ponder the question of what effect a sudden cooling off in cordiality towards Soviet Russia would have on public opinion in this country.

Moscow Reluctant
Moscow's reluctance to meet the American debt and damage claims after Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, had given assurances it would be prepared to do so, is responsible for the development of a situation which threatens the future relations of the two countries.

The feeling prevails in high official circles that the Soviets have failed to live up to promises made during Litvinoff's visit here last November when recognition was granted them.

Furthermore, the manner in which the Soviets have acted has led to suspicions that Moscow may not have given serious heed to the promises it was making in its haste to obtain American recognition at a time when a conflict with Japan appeared imminent.

Litvinoff, it was said on high authority, gave a definite impression that the Soviets would be prepared to meet the American debt and damage claims and also gave assurances that they were prepared to negotiate a quick settlement of them.

Debt Issue Crisis
Furthermore, it was made perfectly clear to Litvinoff during his visit that this government would grant no credits to finance the development of trade with Russia until the debt issue was settled satisfactorily.

Litvinoff gave the impression he understood this position of the American government.

In order to make it perfectly clear this government had no intention of granting any credits until the debt and damage claim issue was settled. The trustees of the new export-import bank for Russia passed a resolution to this effect.

The Soviets then professed surprise that the debt issue was being linked with the question of trade development.

As a result of this train of events, the view is being put forward in authoritative quarters that Russia's rapid industrial development probably would have prevented any great expansion of trade with this country in any event and that if the Soviets' actions necessitate a less friendly attitude on the part of this government, the country doesn't stand to lose much.

San Francisco
Quake Occurred
28 Years Ago

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—Twenty-eight years ago Wednesday two earth shocks rocked a terrified San Francisco at 5:45 o'clock in the morning. Gas mains burst. Oil lamps overturned in shattered homes. A disastrous fire swept the city wiping out block after block of business houses and residences.

The story of the earthquake and fire was being told again today by San Francisco pioneers who peacefully wended their way to work to towering downtown skyscrapers which arose upon the shattered ruins of 1906.

The San Francisco Press club annually celebrates the great fire, but on no fixed date in recent years.

Purchase Under Financing Plan Is Sale And Not Bailment
Lease, Is Argued

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 19.—Purchase of an automobile under a manufacturer's financing plan is a sale and not a bailment lease, counsel for Mary E. Gillilan, New Castle, had argued before the superior court today in holding his client's right to attach the car of Ralph Hartman, New Castle oil firm employee.

When the appellant creditor levied on the car Hartman had purchased from the Rogers Motor Co., the General Motors Acceptance corporation brought suit to retain title to the car on the grounds it held a bailment lease from the local sales unit.

Judgment was entered in favor of the financing company in Lawrence county common pleas court after a directed verdict had been returned in favor of the appellant. Mary Gillilan then appealed alleging the bailment claim was a "screen, sham and a subterfuge" put forth by the financing company.

Bandits Hunted At Weston, Mass.

(International News Service)

WESTON, Mass., April 19.—Search throughout Massachusetts was launched today by state police for an automobile bearing Illinois and New registration plates, carrying six men, one believed to be John Dillinger, notorious mid-western bandit, following a gun duel here between them and a lone policeman.

Three of the men were believed to have been shot by motorcycle patrolman Arthur Raynor, who fired a total of 17 shots at the bandits and dodged a barrage of machine gun fire in return.

One of the men was handcuffed, according to Patrolman Raynor. He saw them as the automobile raced by him travelling at nearly a mile a minute clip.

He pursued the car on his motorcycle and caught up with it. The driver attempted to run over the

patrolman, forcing him into a ditch and throwing him from his motorcycle. Uninjured, Raynor drew his service pistol and fired four shots after the car. The automobile stopped and two men got out and leveled a machine gun at him.

As the men opened fire, Raynor leaped behind a tree and fired 13 more shots, reloading his pistol three times. The two men fell, Raynor reported.

Bloodstains were found on the ground where the man had stood after their companions picked them up.

and 8, it was admitted today by the desperado's father, John W. Dillinger.

While the fugitive killer and bank robber enjoyed his two day visit with relatives armed posses were searching Central Indiana for him. Authorities were confident he was not far away after Dillinger's automobile, purchased in St. Paul, Minn., a few days before, was wrecked twelve miles from Noblesville, Ind.

'Pupil Parade' Will Show School System's Strength

School leaders have hit upon a novel way to impress upon the New Castle public the magnitude and importance of Pennsylvania's educational system, and all who attend the public educational pageant in the Cathedral next Wednesday night, April 25, will long remember, we figure, that the state has 2,000,000 school children.

And this will be how the pupils will make that impression: during an interval, in the auditorium aisles will file 400 youngsters, marching in single file fashion and carrying banners which read "I represent 5,000 pupils." And, of course, anyone's figures would calculate a total of 2,000,000.

Three hours of entertainment, instructive and inspiring, will be offered the public on Wednesday night with a program depicting the early start of the state's school system as the highlight feature. In one chorus which sings will be 200 Lincoln and Garfield school youngsters while an 80-piece band, made up of the Senior and Washington high schools, will play.

Principal B. K. Thacker of George Washington high, chairman of the public, said today that 200 invitations have been mailed to service clubs, ministers, neighboring school authorities and public officials.

Council To Open Truck Bids Friday

New Type Of Truck Is Demonstrated To City Officials Today

When council meets Friday, bids will be opened for a chassis and truck to be used, if purchased, by the city garbage department. Today a new type of garbage carrier was displayed to city officials.

It is said that it can carry twice as much as the ordinary garbage truck and is a time saver as the man who collects the refuse can dump it into a "tail box" which when operated by a lever lifts the garbage into the bed of the truck.

Refuse To Obey Police; Arrested

Lizzie Hicks and Daniel Laws, both colored, were defendants in police court today. They were charged with disorderly conduct. However, they were discharged with a warning. No leniency would be met next time they appeared before Mayor Mayne.

It is alleged they had been at the home of Charles Stiffins, 303 Preston avenue. Police were told of the alleged situation and prevailed, including Lizzie Hicks and Daniel Laws, to go home.

They did not obey police and the policemen carted them to jail.

Housewives Must Stick To Code

Should Not Try To Induce Neighbors Cook To Work For You, This Is Violation

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—If you try to induce your neighbor's cook to work for you, you may lose your blue eagle under a proposed housewives' code.

The projected code was being advocated here today by 50 prominent women who met and formulated the document under the leadership of Mrs. W. Wayne Babcock, chairman of the Philadelphia council on household occupation.

After agreeing on tentative rules to govern hours, wages and working conditions of domestics, the assembled housewives pledged themselves to urge their neighbors to support the code.

The proposed code, among other provisions, calls for a written agreement between the housewife and her servants, minimum wage scales of $10 a week, if living in, and $16 and $17 if living out; and two half-days or one full day off each week.

The tentative code forbids the "bootlegging of cooks."

Suits Are Brought Against An Estate

Carter C. Johnston, trading as the Volant Mills, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Martha J. Drake and Harvey E. Martin, administrators in the estate of the late William M. C. Drake, to recover a bill for $287.14, alleged to have been contracted by Drake for feed and supplies.

An action in assumpsit has also been filed against the Drake estate by V. C. Wilkin and Son of Volant, to recover a bill for merchandise.

The committee in charge consisted of Carmela DeCilio, Peter Farone, Andy Pascarella, Sam Donofrio, Antonetta Armonda, Rose Corio and Katie Miscimarro.

HOMES WANT MAIDS, BUT JOB BUREAU IS WITHOUT APPLICANTS

A need for girls who will do domestic work in homes was disclosed by the Federal-State Employment office, Johnson building today. The demand for help, it was pointed out, is greater than the supply that exists.

"We have been flooded with calls for girls to work in homes," spokesman said, "but we haven't the girls." A plea was made for young women who care to work to register immediately.

'Pupil Parade' Will Show School System's Strength

School leaders have hit upon a novel way to impress upon the New Castle public the magnitude and importance of Pennsylvania's educational system, and all who attend the public educational pageant in the Cathedral next Wednesday night, April 25, will long remember, we figure, that the state has 2,000,000 school children.

And this will be how the pupils will make that impression: In the midst of the performance, during an interval, in to the auditorium aisles will file 400 youngsters, marching in single file fashion and carrying banners which read "I represent 5,000 pupils." And, of course, anyone's figures would calculate a total of 2,000,000.

Three hours of entertainment, instructive and inspiring, will be offered the public on Wednesday night with a pageant depicting the early start of the state's school system as the highlight feature. In one chorus which sings will be 200 Lincoln and Garfield school youngsters while an 8-piece band, made up of the Senior and Washington high schools, will play.

Principal B. K. Thacker of George Washington high, chairman of publicity, said today that 200 invitations have been mailed to service clubs, ministers, neighboring school authorities and public officials.

Should Not Try To Induce Neighbors Cook To Work For You, This Is Violation

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—If you try to induce your neighbor's cook to work for you, you may lose your blue eagle under a proposed housewives' code.

The projected code was being advocated here today by 50 prominent women who met and formulated the document under the leadership of Mrs. W. Wayne Babcock, chairman of the Philadelphia council on household occupation.

After agreeing on tentative rules to govern hours, wages and working conditions of domestics, the assembled housewives pledged themselves to urge their neighbors to support the code.

The proposed code, among other provisions, calls for written agreement between the housewife and her servants, minimum wage scales of $10 a week, if living in, and $15 and $17 if living out; and two half-days or one full day off each week.

The tentative code forbids the "booklegging of cooks."

HOMES WANT MAIDS, BUT JOB BUREAU IS WITHOUT APPLICANTS

A need for girls who will do domestic work in homes was disclosed by the Federal-State Employment office, Johnson building today. The demand for help, it was pointed out is greater than the supply that exists.

"We have been flooded with calls for girls to work in homes," a spokesman said, "but we haven't the girls." A plea was made for young women who care to work to register immediately.

A good vocabulary doesn't help much if you never learn to use the word "no."

Attendance Seals In Syling's Hands

Rural Teachers And Principals May Procure Attendance Awards

Certificates for perfect attendance, and seals for those who have already received certificates, have been received from the State Department of Education by County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, and may be procured from his office now.

Epidemics of children's diseases during the past two months will probably preclude the establishment of any new perfect attendance records for the past year. In 1933, a great many children went through the school year without missing a day.

Council To Open Truck Bids Friday

New Type Of Truck Is Demonstrated To City Officials Today

When council meets Friday, bids will be opened for a chassis and a truck to be used, if purchased, by the city garbage department. To day a new type of garbage carrier was displayed to city officials. It is said that it can carry twice as much as the ordinary gar'ge truck and is a time saver as the man who collects the refuse can dump it into a "tail box" which when operated by a lever lifts the garbage into the bed of the truck.

Refuse To Obey Police; Arrested

Lizzie Hicks and Daniel Laws, both colored, were defendants in police court today. They were charged with disorderly conduct. However, they were discharged with a warning no leniency would greet them next time they appeared before Mayor Mayne.

It is alleged they had been at the home of Charles Stiffins, 303 Preston avenue. Police were told of the alleged situation that prevailed and police twice ordered the people, including Lizzie Hicks and Daniel Laws, to go home.

They did not obey police and the policemen carted them to jail.

Federal Court Conduct To Be Given Airing

Special House Committee
Scathingly Denounces Action Of Courts In Bankrupt Cases

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 19.—Scathing indictment of the conduct of federal courts in bankruptcy proceedings will be reported to the house
by a special judiciary investigating sub-committee.

Although the inquisitorial body,
headed by Rep. Thomas McKeon
(D) of Oklahoma will hold further hearings in Chicago it started to draft a report today charging widespread abuses.

The committee gathered its information chiefly from a study of receivership in federal courts in Chicago, but its members claim the conditions are typical of the entire country.

Exorbitant fees, favoritism by judges in the appointment of receivers and wasting of assets is expected to be alleged in the report.

The "horrible example" which will be cited by the body was uncovered
in an investigation in Chicago. The president of a corporation, which went into bankruptcy was receiving $5,000 a month salary. He was named receiver and his fee was fixed at $5,000 a month.

The receiver continued to draw both sums, thus the sub-committee will say, the bankruptcy of his company doubled the president's salary.

Gray is again coming to the fore
as the choice of sophistates.

First Of Rural Schools Closed

Last Day Exercises Are Held In Scott Township Schools

Harlansburg elementary and the McCasin school in Scott township, ended their sessions yesterday with appropriate closing exercises, the first of the county schools to close their doors for the 1933-34 term.

Today, the Rocky Point school in Scott township is closing, while the Plainsboro elementary schools will end their term on Friday, with the exception of the Brent school, which closes Monday.

Next week will find a number of schools closing, and from then on it will be only a matter of days until all the elementary schools end their terms.

The rural elementary schools have an eight-month term, while the high schools have a nine-month term, the same as the city schools.

Federal Aid For Chicago Attorney

CHICAGO, April 19.—Federal as-

Thomas Courtney today in fighting what he termed was an attempt by rent war on racketeers.

After a two hour conference with United States attorney Dwight
Green the federal prosecutor said:
"Mr. Courtney will have full cooperation from this office."

Plan To Sterilize Oklahoma Inmates

(International News Service)
NORMAN, Okla., April 19.—Sterilization of Oklahoma's "unfit"—habitual criminals, the insane, imbeciles, feeble minded and certain inmates of state hospitals who may become public charges—faced its first test Wednesday.

In accordance with provisions of the recently enacted law which makes the sterilization process mandatory for such "unfit" members of the state board of affairs met here to consider a list of 15 patients selected for the experiment. Of the 15, 14 are women.

Appeals may be had from the board's decision to the district courts, which must pass on all cases before the sterilization operations can be performed.

It has been estimated that approximately 2,000 patients and inmates of Oklahoma asylums and penal institutions face the possibility of sterilization under the law.

the sides of the fire-box, shooting a shower close to the flue-sheet and dropping the required quantity under the door. The thin spots were promptly bedded over to prevent the leakage of "drawing air". Constant attention had to be bestowed on the work, from the time the fireman swung into the cab until the boiler took charge at the end of the journey.

The engineer of this department was given a fireman's and engineer's view of the Baltimore & Ohio locomotives at the B. & O. roundhouse the other day through the capable and trained eyes of C. H. Cotton, assistant road foreman of engines. The numerous levers regulating speed, steam, sand coal, water, whistle, etc., were painstakingly explained, and,
most interesting of all, the automatic stoker was demonstrated.

Mr. Cotton is familiar with every detail on every locomotive of the B. & O. yards, whether it be a simple engine, a "mailey" (as that spelled correctly), a Lord Baltimore or one of the dimensions of the "5047".
He anticipates the questions of a novice and has them answered before they are asked.

While on the subject of engines it might be added that the B. & O. yards are the home ports for three of the largest passenger engines of the system. The latest addition was the "5047", the most powerful passenger locomotive of its type ever to be built.

In the April edition of the Baltimore & Ohio magazine there appears the photographs of three attractive little New Castle youngsters, Suzette Joan Rice, granddaughter of Engineer W. E. Dittman and Engineer R. Rice, Angela Marie, daughter of Ralph Audino, and Paul Duane Scruggs, grandson of Engineer W. E. Dittman.

Warfel Answers Rumors Decrying Hatching System

Game Farm Superintendent States Criticism Of New System Unfounded

Superintendent V. T. Warfel of the Jordan state game farm issued a statement today in answer to criticism that has been voiced concerning the new incubation system installed at the farm last spring by the game commission of Pennsylv-
vania. His statement follows:
"Rumors of unknown origin, which have circulated at various times, to the effect that the new system of mechanical incubation and brooding is not as successful as the old method of hatching and brooding with chicken hens, or that the farm is not being operated as successfully and
as satisfactorily to the game commission under the present management as it ever was under previous management, are entirely without ground and are, no doubt, devised and circulated by persons hoping to make some personal gain through such action.

"The farm is open for the inspection of the public at all times, as it has been ever since I took charge,
and the public is invited to visit the farm and inspect the methods of operation and results obtained.
While, of course, the employees of the farm cannot delay their necessary
work which must be done on schedule for best results, they will give as much time and consideration as consistent with their work to the answering of questions and general
instruction of visitors.

their finest plumage from this time
until the latter part of May and it is well worth a trip to the farm to see these birds as they strut about the fields. During the summer and fall information of interest to the public regarding the farm and the seasons production is kept posted on the bulletin board near the parking space at farm headquarters so that persons visiting the farm at any time may read these bulletins and thereby secure much information about the farm, whether they are able to locate an employee whose duties will allow him to take the time to instruct them personally or not."

Extend Time For Employers To Post Labor Provisions

planatory:
"Extension of time to apply for

It has come to the attention of this

Observations In 7th Ward

Firing a locomotive engine today is a far cry from the job it was back in the 1880's or the early years of 1900. It still requires finesse but is not the muscle-developing, brow wetting, worrisome task it used to be.
All this is eliminated by the automatic stoker with which most of the engines are equipped.

There is no experience that can compare to the interest and thrill of riding in a locomotive engine cab when a steady head of steam is up and the throttle-lever is wide open, but a part of the thrill can be captured with the aid of your imagination, by inspecting the cab when it is at a standstill.

Complete management of the fire is maintained by the proper twist of a small lever at the proper time.
Coal is distributed evenly over every section of the huge fire-box, producing a glowing incandescent mass of fire, a chaotic gleam that means steam and power. The fireman of yesterday had a shovel in his hands almost constantly. He threw in four or five shovelfuls of coal at each firing, taking care to scatter it along

Warfel Answers Rumors Decrying Hatching System

Game Farm Superintendent States Criticism Of New System Unfounded

Superintendent V. T. Warfel of the Jordan state game farm issued a statement today in answer to criticism that has been voiced concerning the new incubation system installed at the farm last spring by the game commission of Pennsylvania.

His statement follows: "Rumors of unknown origin, which have circulated for some time, to the effect that the new system of mechanical incubation and brooding is not as successful as the old method of hatching and brooding with chicken hens, or that the farm is not being operated as successfully and as satisfactorily to the game commission under the present management as it ever was under previous management, are entirely without grounds and are, no doubt, devised and circulated by persons hoping to make some personal gain through such action.

"The farm is open for the inspection of the public at all times, as it has been ever since I took charge, and the public is invited to visit the farm and inspect the methods of operation and results obtained. While, of course, the employees of the farm cannot delay their necessary work which must be done on schedule for best results, they will give as much time and consideration as consistent with their work to the answering of questions and general instruction cannot be allowed to enter buildings and laying fields, however there is a lane along the fence of these fields which is open to the public at all times for walking or driving in an orderly manner.

"The birds in these fields are in their finest plumage from this time until the latter part of May and it is well worth a trip to the farm to see these birds as they strut about the fields. During the summer and fall information of interest to the public regarding the farm and the seasons production is kept posted on the bulletin board near the parking space at farm headquarters so that persons visiting the farm at any time may read these bulletins and thereby secure much information about the farm, whether they are able to locate an employee whose duties will allow him to take the time to instruct them personally or not."

Federal Court Conduct To Be Given Airing

Special House Committee
Scathingly Denounces Action Of Courts In Bank-
rupt Cases

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 19.—Scath-
ing indictment of the conduct of federal courts in bankruptcy proceedings will be reported to the house
by a special judiciary investigating sub-committee.

Although the inquisitorial body,
headed by Rep. Thomas McKen-
(D) of Oklahoma will hold further hearings in Chicago it started to draft a report today charging widespread abuses.

The committee gathered its information chiefly from a study of receivership in federal courts in Chicago, but its members claim the conditions are typical of the entire country.

Exorbitant fees, favoritism by judges in the appointment of receptors and wasting of assets is expected to be alleged in the report.

The "horrible example" which will
be cited by the body was uncovered
in an investigation in Chicago. The president of a corporation which went into bankruptcy was receiving $5,000 a month salary. He was named receiver and his fee was fixed at $5,000 a month.

The receiver continued to draw both sums, thus the sub-committee will say, the bankruptcy of his company doubled the president's salary.

Gray is again coming to the fore
as the choice of sophisticates.

Warfel Answers Rumors Decrying Hatching System

Game Farm Superintendent States Criticism Of New System Unfounded

Superintendent V. T. Warfel of
the Jordan state game farm issued a statement today in answer to criticism that has been voiced concerning the new incubation system installed at the farm last spring by
the game commission of Pennsylv-
vania. His statement follows:

"Rumors of unknown origin, which have circulated at various times, to the effect that the new system of
mechanical incubation and brooding, is not as successful as the old method of hatching and brooding with chicken hens, or that the farm is not being operated as successfully and
as satisfactorily to the game commission under the present management as it ever was under previous management, are entirely without grounds and are, no doubt, devised
and circulated by persons hoping to make some personal gain through such action.

"The farm is open for the inspection of the public at all times, as it has been ever since I took charge,
and the public is invited to visit the
farm and inspect the methods of operation and results obtained.
While, of course, the employees of the farm cannot delay their necessary
work which must be done on schedule for best results, they will give as much time and consideration as consistent with their work to the answering of questions and general
instruction of visitors.

"Visitors cannot be allowed to enter buildings and laying fields, however there is a lane along the fence of these fields which is open to the public at all times for walking or driving in an orderly manner.
"The birds in these fields are in their finest plumage from this time
until the latter part of May and it is well worth a trip to the farm to see these birds as they strut about the fields. During the summer and fall information of interest to the public
regarding the farm and the seasons of production is kept posted on the bulletin board near the parking space at farm headquarters so that persons visiting the farm at any time may read these bulletins and
thereby secure much information
about the farm, whether they are able to locate an employee whose duties will allow him to take the time to instruct them personally or
not."

TWENTY-TWO EAT FRIED CHICKEN

Manager Tom Boyle of The Castleton scored another of his distinctive hits last evening when he played host to twenty-two members of the New Castle high school basketball team, coaches, and managers at a 6:30 o'clock dinner. Following the dinner Coach Phil Eridenbaugh named Brownie Ostrosky as the captain of the 1934-35 basketball team.

They brought in plates heaped high with chicken (the spring variety), well browned and done to the turn, and all the side dishes that make up a dinner of this kind, and then topped it off with ice cream and cake, and to say that the boys enjoyed the meal would be putting it very mildly. If you are particular about the way chicken is served try The Castleton. There are several hundred boosters for The Castleton at senior high, football and basketball players alike have been treated to these tempting dinners by Mr. Boyle.

Ostrosky Named. There were not many speeches, it being the ideal banquet. Coach Eridenbaugh said a few words and thanked the boys for their work during the past season. He said that he hoped the team next year would be as good as the one he coached this year. He paid a high tribute to Reiber, Komlin, Nigro, Kelly, and Hitchens the departing seniors, and also to Ridley and Battley, then called upon each of the seniors for a few brief remarks.

The announcement that Brownie Ostrosky would be the captain next year met with instant approval of the players. He was congratulated on all sides. Incidentally Ostrosky will be the only veteran left from this year's section three championship team.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner said a few words thanking the boys for their co-operation and then the event was over, short and snappy, but right to the point and everybody was happy and far from hungry when they left The Castleton.

Twenty-two Attend. The following attended the dinner: Head Coach Phil Eridenbaugh, Assistant Coaches William "Bill" Klee, George "Gig" Thomas, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, Student Manager Deane Smith, Assistant Manager William "Bill" Barbarovic, Captain Russell "Bus" Reiber, Earle Pratt, George Miles, James Stephenson, Jimmie Goodchild, Ed Nahas, Harry Tuscano, Joe Wisnosky, Brownie Ostrosky, captain-elect, Walter "Powerhouse" Komlin, Charles Lawrence Fleming, Jack Hitchens, Russell Battley, Joe Kelly, Joe Nigro, Archie Ridley and Charles P. Homers Feature In Big Leagues

New Ball Livelier, Foxx Hits Two, Bonura Hits Two, Many Others Hit For Circuit

BABE RUTH ALSO SLAMS OUT HOMER

By PAT ROBINSON International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 19.—Maybe Jimmy Foxx wasn't kidding when he said he'd top Ruth's 60-homer record this year. And perhaps the Babe himself wasn't fooling when he intimated he might turn the trick himself if the old dogs didn't bark too soon.

And it may be that Blondy (They can't beat us) Ryan was on the level when he pronounced the Giants 30 percent stronger than last year. Nor was Rajah Hornsby trying to spoof anyone when he said the Browns might reduce a few swollen craniums this semester.

New Balls Livelier Brothers Heydler and Harridge, too, were indubitable correct when they declared the balls in use had plenty of rabbit in them and that a record crop of homers was in prospect.

All this by way of preamble to the fact that the players have hit their normal stride much earlier than usual. The real hitters are hitting and the real pitchers are doing their stuff.

In witness whereof, we offer Babe Ruth's initial homer, the 684th of his career, and two by Foxx struck in a losing cause.

Chuck Klein's second homer in as many days helped the Cubs to another win over the aged Dazzy Vance and the rest of the Reds, 8 to 4. The Giants blew themselves to another easy one at the expense of the Phils, 6 to 2.

The Braves turned on the Dodger 3 to 2 and the Pirates came to life to nose out the Cardinals, 7 to 3, when Larry French and Chagnon outlasted a trio headed by Paul, the less talkative of the Dean brothers.

Foxx Hits Two In the American league, the Senators again eked out a 6 to 5 margin over the Red Sox.

The aged but hopeful Connie Mack couldn't find another thrower to check the Yanks and Ruth & Co. romped home 11 to 5. A brace of homers by Goose Goslin and Gerald Walker drove in five runs as the Tigers again topped the White Sox 6 to 5.

Rajah Hornsby trotted out Bump Hadley against Walter Johnson's Indians and Bump applied a 2 to 0 plaster.

SPYING ON SPORTS

Which is saying plenty. The British amateur—from an American standpoint—is the most elusive of golfing honors.

Only two Americans have ever achieved the British simon pure title—Jesse Sweetser in 1924 and Bobby Jones in 1930—whereas the British open title has been an "American possession" for more than a decade.

Climate, "sea legs," the mental handicap of playing on foreign soil and for the most historic bauble in golfdom have handicapped American players. That is why there never has been an American "Favorite" in the British amateur.

DUNLAP HAS reached the peak of his form and game. This was demonstrated recently when the American amateur king stroked his way to an incredible round of 83 in annexing his third North and South title.

Again, George is bubbling with confidence—to which he has full right. This will be his second invasion of British soil, his second try at the British amateur.

Another point in Dunlap's favor is the reassuring thought—to him—that it took the Honorable Michael Scott, the eventual winner, to remove him from the 1933 tournament. Scott defeated Dunlap in the semi-final round.

Dunlap has also put on needed weight and, while still far from a husky, he now has the pounds to give him the necessary power and stamina to withstand the rigors of a golf classic.

THOSE WHO predict more national titles and other future honors for the Pinehurst veteran point out that Dunlap, like Jones, was literally reared on a golf links.

As a very small boy George was trying his hand at the game and before he was in his teens, Dunlap was playing golf daily. Perhaps Dunlap will fail to prove, after all, that he is the great amateur to follow Jones. But he has as great a chance to become just that as has any other outstanding player in the game today.

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Apr. 19.—With 400 delegates on hand the twelfth annual convention of the Izaak Walton League of America opened here today.

One of the league's newest policies, to encourage game production on lands taken out of agricultural production, was to be explained.

Jack Dempsey Is In Chicago

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Apr. 19.—An unexpected visit by Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, gave rise today to rumors that he is here with a promotional venture involving Max Baer, the Livermore larruper whose contract Dempsey shares.

Arriving from the southwest Dempsey went into conference with Charles W. Bidwill, president of the Chicago Stadium operating company.

Thirteen Teams To Play Mushball

League Plans To Start On Monday, May 7th; League Divided Into Divisions

Thirteen teams are ready to start the New Castle mushball league season on Monday night May 7th. The fourteenth team, Croton A. C. was forced to withdraw due to lack of a playing field.

A meeting of the league managers and players was held at the "Y" last night with President Walther in charge, and quite a lot was accomplished to wit—size of ball to be used will be 12 inches, size of playing fields to vary in each league. National League to use 60 foot base lines and the American League 50 foot base lines. Pitching boxes will be 37 feet for the longer field and 35 for the smaller field.

An official bat 34 inches long and 2 inches wide was adopted. The matter of umpires was not taken up last night, but will be the topic for discussion of the league next Wednesday night.

Four New Teams

The following new teams joined the league last night—Canyon A. C. with Stanley Coprowski as manager, Catholic A. C. with James Yerage as manager, Pumpstations with Barney Green as manager, Uparatas with Harry Wymann as manager.

The league lineup at the present time includes—Ellwood Millers, St. Andrews, Radiators, West Side Merchants, Cunningham A. C., East Side Merchants, Spencers, Oak A. C. Scarazzos.

The National League will have the following teams: Ellwood Millers, St. Andrews, Spencers, West Side Merchants, Cunningham A. C. and Uparatas, with possibly the Radiators deciding to enter the league. The remainder of the teams will comprise the American division. Games will be played Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Wednesday will be kept open for postponed games.

CATHOLICS WIN TITLE

Homers Feature In Big Leagues

New Ball Livelier, Fox Hits Two, Bonura Hits Two, Many Others Hit For Circuit

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 19.—Maybe Jimmy Fox wasn't kidding when he said he'd top Ruth's 60-homer record this year. And perhaps the Babe himself wasn't fooling when he intimated he might turn the trick himself if the old dogs didn't bark too soon.

And it may be that Blondy (They can't beat us) Ryan was on the level when he pronounced the Giants 30 percent stronger than last year. Nor was Rajah Hornsby trying to spoof anyone when he said the Browns might reduce a few swollen craniums this season.

New Balls Livelier
Brothers Heydler and Harridge, too, were inimitable correct when they declared the balls in use had plenty of rabbit in them and that a record crop of homers was in prospect.

All this by way of preamble to the fact that the players have hit their normal stride much earlier than usual. The real hitters are hitting and the real pitchers are doing their stuff.

In witness whereof, we offer Babe Ruth's initial homer, the 684th of his career, and two by Fox struck in a losing cause.

Chuck Klein's second homer in as many days helped the Cubs to another win over the aged Dazzy Vance and the rest of the Reds, 8 to 4. The Giants blew themselves to another easy one at the expense of the Phils, 6 to 2.

The Braves turned on the Dodgers 3 to 2 and the Pirates came to tie to nose out the Cardinals, 7 to 4, when Larry French and Chagnon outlasted a trio headed by Paul, the less talkative of the Dean brothers.

Fox Hits Two
In the American league, the Senators again eked out a 6 to 5 margin over the Red Sox.

The aged but hopeful Connie Mack couldn't find another thrower to check the Yanks and Ruth & Co. romped home 11 to 5. A brace of homers by Goose Goslin and Gerald Walker drove in five runs as the Tigers again topped the White Sox 6 to 5.

Rajah Hornsby trotted out Bump Hadley against Walter Johnson's Indians and Bump applied a 2 to 0 plaster.

SPYING ON SPORTS

George T. Dunlap, Jr., is going gunning for the British amateur golf championship this summer—and close followers of the game aren't so sure but George may realize his hopes.

Which is saying plenty. The British amateur—from an American standpoint—is the most elusive of golfing honors.

Only two Americans have ever achieved the British simon pure title—Jesse Swetsen in 1929 and Bobby Jones in 1930—whereas the British open title has been an "American possession" for more than a decade.

Climate, "sea legs", the mental handicap of playing on foreign soil and for the most historic bauble in goldom have handicapped American players. That is why there never has been an American "Favorite" in the British amateur.

DUNLAP HAS reached the peak of his form and game. This was demonstrated recently when the American amateur king stroked his way to an incredible round of 93 in annexing his third North and South title.

Again, George is bubbling with confidence—to which he has full right. This will be his second invasion of British soil his second try at the amateur.

Another point in Dunlap's favor is the reassuring thought—to him—that it took the Honorable Michael Scott, the eventual winner, to remove him from the 1933 tournament. Scott defeated Dunlap in the semi-final round.

Dunlap has also put on needed weight and, while still far from a husky, he now has the pounds to give him the necessary power and stamina to withstand the rigors of a golf classic.

THOSE WHO predict more national titles and other future honors for the Pinehurst veteran point out that Dunlap, like Jones, was literally reared on a golf links.

As a very small boy George was trying his hand at the game and, before he was in his teens, Dunlap was playing golf daily.

Perhaps Dunlap will fail to prove, after all, that he is the great amateur to follow Jones. But he has as great a chance to become just that as has any other outstanding player in the game today.

Ostrosky Named Floor Captain

TWENTY-TWO EAT FRIED CHICKEN

Manager Tom Boyle of The Castleton scored another of his distinctive hits last evening when he played host to twenty-two members of the New Castle high school basketball team, coaches, and managers at a 6:30 o'clock dinner. Following the dinner Coach Phil Bridenbaugh named Brownie Ostrosky as the captain of the 1934-35 basketball team.

They brought in plates heaped high with chicken (the spring variety), well browned and done to the turn, and all the side dishes that make up a dinner of this kind, and then topped it off with ice cream and cake, and to say that the boys enjoyed the meal would be putting it very mildly. If you are particularly about the way chicken is served try The Castleton. There are several hundred boosters for The Castleton at senior high, football and basketball players alike have been treated to these tempting dinners by Mr. Boyle.

Ostrosky Named.
There were not many speeches, it being the ideal banquet. Coach Bridenbaugh said a few words and thanked the boys for their work during the past season. He said that he hoped the team next year would be as good as the one he coached this year. He paid a high tribute to Reiber, Kominic, Nigro, Kelly, and Hitchens the departing seniors, also to Ridley and Battley, and then called upon each of the seniors for a few brief remarks.

The announcement that Brownie Ostrosky would be the captain next year met with instant approval of the players. He was congratulated on all sides. Incidentally Ostrosky will be the only veteran left from this year's section three championship team.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner said a few words thanking the boys for their co-operation and then the event was over, short and snappy, but right to the point and everybody was happy and far from hungry when they left The Castleton.

Twenty-two Attend.

President Has Legal Right To Adjourn Congress At Will If Lawmakers Won't Go Home

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 19.—If the president, getting tired of having congress in session in Washington and able to persuade one of its two houses to quit and go home, but unable to prevail upon the other house to do so, chooses to resort to extreme measures, there is no doubt of his legal right (see Section 3 of Article II, U. S. constitution) to adjourn both, both executive and legislative, "to such time as he may think proper."

But this right is one which no White House tenant ever has attempted to exercise.

That President Roosevelt is thinking of asserting it is a statement no one but himself can make with any certainty of accuracy, but it is a fact that it is being mentioned on Capitol Hill as a possibility.

It is equally general that a considerable number of them are unwilling to adjourn that soon.

In such a situation, the suggestion is made that it may not be difficult for the executive mansion to maneuver the senators and representatives into a deadlock and thus an English parliamentary would press it through the entire outfit.

try and the question is raised, "Why doesn't this include Russia?" which certainly is one of them.

But Russia is arranging a settlement with Uncle Sam. Uncle Sam may not get any money out of it. He made some loans to the czar, which never have been repaid. On the opposite hand, the Soviet folk have claims against the United States on account of the presence of American troops on their soil just after the revolution.

A balancing of these reckonings is pending, and an adjustment is assured.

The difference between Russia and the United States, and the United States versus the rest of the European powers is that the U. S. trusts Russia's business integrity (regardless of the form of its government), whereas it is perfectly conscious that it has been swindled by the rest of Europe, which now wants to validate its swindle.

The Johnson act, in short, was intended to apply to England, France, Italy, Belgium, et cetera. A way will be found to prevent it from applying to Russia, which it wasn't intended to apply to.

President Has Legal Right To Adjourn Congress At Will If Lawmakers Won't Go Home

Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 19—If the president, getting tired of having congress in session in Washington and able to persuade one of its two houses to quit and go home, but unable to prevail upon the other house to do so, chooses to resort to extreme measures, there is no doubt of his legal right (see Section 3 of Article II, U. S. constitution) to adjourn both of them, by executive mandate, "to such time as he may think proper."

But this right is one which no White House tenant ever has attempted to exercise.

That President Roosevelt is thinking of asserting it is a statement no one but himself can make with any certainty of accuracy, but it is a fact that it is being mentioned in Capitol Hill as a possibility.

The impression generally is that the New Yorker wants the lawmakers off his hands by the end of May at the latest.

It equally is general that a considerable number of them are unwilling to adjourn that soon.

To settle this situation, suggestion is made that it may not be difficult for the executive mansion to maneuver the senators and representatives into a deadlock and as an English parliamentarian would express it, "prorogue the entire outfit."

try and the question is raised, "Why doesn't this include Russia?" which certainly is one of them.

The answer one hears in official Russia is that it does include Russia.

But Russia is arranging a settlement with Uncle Sam. Uncle Sam may not get any money out of it. He made some loans to the czar, which never have been repaid.

On the opposite hand, the Soviet folk have claims against the United States on account of the presence of American troops on their soil just after the revolution.

A balancing of these reckonings is pending, and an adjustment is assured.

The difference between Russia and the United States, and the United States versus the rest of the European powers is that the U. S. trusts Russia's business integrity (regardless of the form of its government), whereas it is perfectly conscious that it has been swindled by the rest of Europe, which now wants to validate its swindle.

The Johnson act, in short, was intended to apply to England, France, Italy, Belgium, et cetera. A way will be found to prevent it from applying to Russia, which it wasn't intended to apply to.

But this right is one which no White House tenant ever has attempted to exercise.

That President Roosevelt is thinking of asserting it is a statement no one but himself can make with any certainty of accuracy, but it is a fact that it is being mentioned on Capitol Hill as a possibility.

The impression assuredly is general that the New Yorker wants the lawmakers off his hands by the end of May at the latest.

It equally is general that a considerable number of them are unwilling to adjourn that soon.

In such a situation, the suggestion is made that it may not be difficult for the executive mansion to maneuver the senators and representatives into a deadlock and as an English parliamentarian would express it prorogue the entire outfit.

It would be constitutional, but oh, the row it would raise! Anti-dictatorial legislators fairly froth at the mouth at the very idea.

The Johnson act, in short, was intended to apply to England, France, Italy, Belgium, et cetera. A way will be found to prevent it from applying to Russia, which it wasn't intended to apply to.

Depositors in tied-up banks naturally resent the administration's attitude, which seems to have extinguished Congressman Clarence J. McLeod's plan to have them paid off in full by the federal government—the RFC to take over the tied-up-institutions' frozen assets and thaw them gradually, the government thus (in theory) eventually getting its money back.

But consider: a large part of these assets, undoubtedly are unthawable. The government will NOT be able to realize anything like 100 per cent on them. Folk who did not happen to be "stuck" will have to foot the bill, as taxpayers.

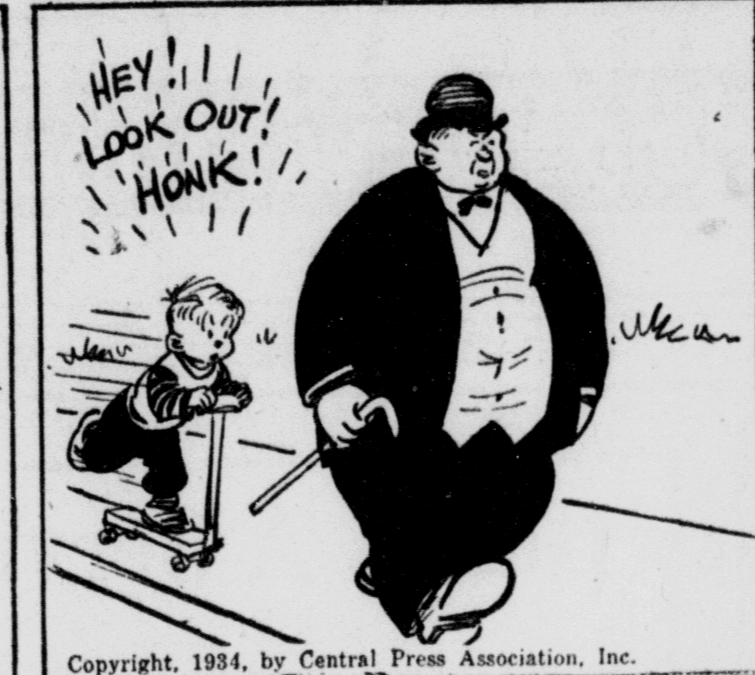

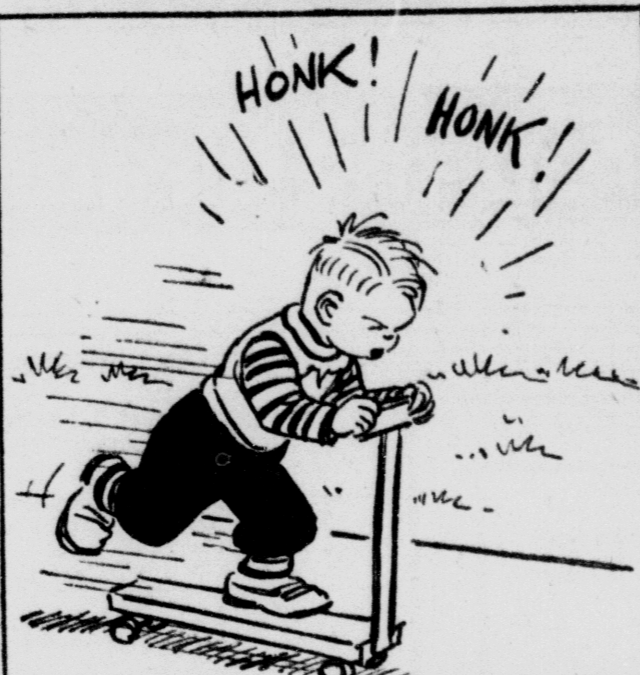

To be sure, the folk who WERE stuck WOULDNT have been stuck but for the government's dereliction. Therefore, aren't they entitled to hold the government responsible for their loss? According to this line of reasoning, however, a citizen whose house is looted by burglars should be entitled to hold the police responsible, and demand compensation. And maybe he OUGHT to be entitled to do so, but it isn't generally considered. It's agreed that the thieves should be caught and punished if possible, and that their loot should be returned to its rightful owners, if recoverable—but if the crooks have spent it, the assumption is that the losers' loss is irretrievable.

Having recognized Moscow, the Washington administration is setting up machinery to promote American trade with Russia, involving extensions of credit to Muscovite customers.

Now, however, congress has adopted and President Roosevelt has endorsed Senator Hiram W. Johnson's plan prohibiting Yankee loans to foreign governments that have defaulted on their dues to this coun-

Nicely After Opening

EDGE FORWARD(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 19.—The stock market was irregular today after yesterday's strength, bullish activities being kept in check by a bad break in the Canadian gold shares and further weakness in commodities.

The break in Canadian gold shares reflected the new 10 per cent tax imposed in the Dominion budget. Rails were aided by the action of President Roosevelt to break wage emasse and also to the better than seasonal gain in loadings last week. Gains ran to more than a point each in Atchison and Delaware & Hudson.

Steel and motors were firm while tobacco shares were mixed after yesterday's slump. B. M. T. was an individual bright spot, running up more than a point on announcement of plans to clear up its floating debt. Early losses in wheat ran to more than a cent a bushel but a rally occurred later. Cotton was down around 50 cents a bale but silver was steady. Bonds were higher and the dollar steady.

Oil stocks edged forward, stimulated by predictions of early rises in both gasoline and crude oil. Further activity in the radio issues was outstanding in the communication shares. Farm shares were sluggish in sympathy with the decline in grains.

Delegations To Attend MeetingClosing Services Of Revival In Epworth Church Have Special Features

The services this week in the Epworth Methodist church have been marked by excellent congregations and there have been requests for prayer and some have definitely accepted Christ as their Saviour. Mrs. Bonney has been preaching unusually interesting and helpful sermons and Mr. Bonney has conducted the congregational singing and sang several solos.

These special services will close next Sunday evening and the remaining services will be featured with several special items. This evening special delegations will be present from the Kings Chapel, the Epworth, and from Dormont. Special music will also feature the service.

Friday evening will be of unusual interest because Mrs. Bonney will tell her life story, including her life as a mountain girl, her conversion, the later call to Christian work and some of her experiences in the evangelistic work. They have labored in over two-thirds of the states of the union.

As a result of these services a large preparatory class will be called and several will be taken into full membership of the church.

Victor Aldridge, colored, today was held in a city police cell, pending the lodging of an information against him by a man named Speck, 39, 111 North Jefferson street, who claimed in police court that Aldridge pointed a pistol at him on April 8 had pointed a pistol at him in South Jefferson street. Aldridge denied the charge. Speck identified the prisoner in police court.

Speck said he had gone to a South Jefferson street address and that his friend was seated in the car with him.

She saw a shadow and Speck got out to investigate and Aldridge, according to Speck, pointed a pistol at him.

Police have been watching for Aldridge since April 8 and was apprehended last night.

Totaling $652,129.36, the contract was for the purchase of 175 machines from seven concerns. Companies sharing in the contract are the J. D. Adams Company, Indianapolis; Austin-Western Road Machinery Company, Chicago; Galloway Iron Works and Manufacturing Company, Galloway, O.; Beckwith Machinery Company, Pittsburgh; Allegheny Equipment Corporation, Pittsburgh; Huber Manufacturing Company, Marion, O., and Wehr Company, Cudahy, Mich.

The purchase includes 54 six-wheel graders, each costing $4,305.38; 75 four-wheel graders, each $3,037.70; 34 four-wheel graders, each $3,213.81 and 12 crawler-type graders, each $3,340.70.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 19.—The stock market was irregular today after yesterday's strength, bullish activities being kept in check by a bad break in the Canadian gold shares and further weakness in commodities.

The break in Canadian gold shares reflected the new 10 per cent tax proposed in the Dominion budget. Ralls were aided by the action of resident Roosevelt to break wage emasse and also to the better than seasonal gain in loadings last week. Ralls ran to more than a point each in Atchison and Delaware & Hudson.

Steel and motors were firm while oil shares were mixed after yesterday's slump. B. M. T. was an individual bright spot, running up more than a point on announcement of plans to clear up its floating debt. Early losses in wheat ran to more than a cent a bushel but a rally occurred later. Cotton was down round 50 cents a bale but silver was steady. Bonds were higher and the dollar steady.

Oil stocks edged forward, stimulated by predictions of early rises in both gasoline and crude oil. Further activity in the radio shares was outstanding in the communication shares. Farm shares were sluggish in sympathy with the decline in grains.

Blind And Deaf, Badger Still Enjoys Gardening

In spite of his infirmities, David Badger, now a resident at the Home for the Aged and Infirm Deaf, at Philadelphia, goes in for gardening on a large scale, just as he did when a resident of Shenango township, near the Old Pittsburgh road.

David feels sure that he understands just how Bach and Beethoven, the one blind and the other deaf, found succor from their afflictions in their art.

David calls gardening an art, too. His concertos are cabbages, and his symphonies are flowers. His "audiences"—and they are always enthusiastic—are the occupants of the Home where he has been living for the past few years.

Badger is anxious for summer to come, and hails it as an opportunity to set a new record for his vegetable crops and to plant a bigger and better bed of gladioli.

during the summer. His art as a gardener has been self taught. He takes care of the garden from spading and weeding to expert harvesting.

In spading, he feels his way along with his hands and the toe of his foot. He rakes the soil to the proper fineness with the same method to guide him, and lays out the rows, marking off the distances between them and then stretching strings.

He has no difficulty in distinguishing the weeds from the vegetables, and pulls out the invaders with the speed of a practised gardener.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

Tomorrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backaches, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath.

Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

The report, Democratic members state, will assert that the Gary Education failed to substantiate his charges.

The statement of former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who counseled he could establish an ef-

Investigation Of "Brain Trust" Charges By Dr. Wirt, Officially Ended

CHARGES NOT SUBSTANTIATED

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 19.—Investigation of Dr. William A. Wirt's charges that "brain trusters" and their satellites were fomenting social revolution, was officially closed today.

Despite the demand of Republican members for further hearings, the special committee headed by Rep. Bulwinkle (D) of North Carolina, voted to discontinue hearings and prepare a report.

The report, Democratic members state, will assert that the Gary Education bill failed to substantiate his charges.

The statement of former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who counseled he could establish an effort to overthrow the social order if the committee were not "gagged" failed to change the situation.

Refuses Comment
Chairman Bulwinkle did not hear of Reed's declaration until after the committee had voted to close hearings, and declined to comment.

Reps. Lehiback (R) of New Jersey and McGugin (R) of Kansas demanded that the investigation continue with some of the most powerful figures in the "new deal" as witnesses.

They sought to call secretary of interior Ickes, federal relief administrator Hopkins, chairman Arthur E. Morgan and other directors of the Tennessee Valley authority; assistant secretary of agriculture Tugwell, consumers advisory council Frederick C. Howe and W. I. Westervelt, Chicago business man and former high official of the farm relief administration.

Blind And Deaf, Badger Still Enjoys Gardening

In spite of his infirmities, David Badger, now a resident at the Home for the Aged and Infirm Deaf, at Philadelphia, goes in for gardening on a large scale, just as he did when a resident of Shenango township, near the Old Pittsburgh road.

David feels sure that he understands just how Bach and Beethoven, the one blind and the other deaf, found success from their afflictions in their art.

David calls gardening an art, too. His concertos are cabbages, and his symphonies are flowers. His "audiences"—and they are always enthusiastic—are the occupants of the Home where he has been living for the past few years.

Badger is anxious for summer to come, and hails it as an opportunity to set a new record for his vegetable crops and to plant a bigger and better bed of gladioli.

The other 35 residents of the home and the members of the staff are provided with most of their vegetables from Badger's garden

during the summer. His art as a gardener has been self taught. He takes care of the garden from spading and weeding to expert harvesting.

In spading, he feels his way along with his hands and the toe of his foot. He rakes the soil to the proper fineness with the same method to guide him, and lays out the rows, marking off the distances between them and then stretching strings. He has no difficulty in distinguishing the weeds from the vegetables, and pulls out the invaders with the speed of a practiced gardener.

Last summer, Badger raised 17 varieties of vegetables or a total of approximately 2,000 items in his garden at the home.

British Center Attention Upon Arms Limitation

(International News Service) LONDON, April 19.—With reduction of the world's armament admittedly a dead subject now, Great Britain today centered its attention on the problem of arms limitation, will, with Italy, to grant Germany the demanded defensive equipment subject to international inspection.

The death knell to the long-dying hopes of reducing arms was sounded last night with publication of the French reply to the British disarmament proposals of January 29. The reply definitely ended the bi-lateral arms talks, and gloomily asked a return to deadlocked Geneva.

Insull Silent About Affairs

Indicted Utilities Magnate Refuses To Talk About Chicago Financial Crash

NO HINT AS TO DEFENSE PLANS

(International News Service) ABOARD P. S. EXILONA, April 19.—Although willing to discuss good-naturedly virtually everything under the sun, Samuel Insull is maintaining a rigid silence regarding most of his own affairs and particularly regarding what he plans to do upon arriving in the United States.

Realizing that whatever chances there are of his gaining freedom, temporary or permanent, in the United States are at stake, Insull has flatly declined to discuss his future plans. He has made only one point plain, he insists he has no funds.

The Exilona docked at Palermo, Sicily, today. The next stop scheduled is Casablanca, Morocco, on the south shore of the Mediterranean. After that the ship will go through the Straits of Gibraltar and head out across the Atlantic for Boston and New York.
